The eighteen-months-old daughter of Fred Denny, Ogdensburg, N. Y., was attacked and knocked down by a rooster while playing in the yard at home. The mother was attracted by the little one's screams, and ran out of the house to find the rooster standing on the child's breast, viciously pecking at her face with its beak. The baby's hands, which she had instinctively thrown up to protect her eyes, were bleeding in several places from the wounds made by the rooster's beak.

Painters on Floor Paint.

First you must select a good drying paint, one that dries hard and can be walked on, second one that when it does dry it won't mop off and thirdly it must cover well to be economical for the user. We have gone most thoroughly into the paint business and after trying all kinds of experiments we have proved to our satisfaction that Ramsay's and the Prism Brand will cover more surfaces (1 gallon 100 square feet) and dry better and wear longer than any other kind. If you want good paint get it at Wallace's Drug store.

PROGRESS OF HALLEY'S COMET.

On April 1, Halley's Comet was estimated to be 130,000,000 miles distant from the Earth and is moving in its direction at the rate of 100,000 miles an hour. It now rises to the view of observers on the Earth at the present time between 4 and 4.30 a. m.

Two hundred and twenty-eight years ago, when this comet was seen shining over the city of London, the great astronomer, Edmund Halley, made a special study of it. He was the first to say that this comet had come before and would come again. He mentioned the time the comet would come again, a date long after he would be dead. "If it should return," he wrote, "according to our predictions about the year 1785, impartial posterity will not refuse to acknowledge that this was first discovered by an Englishman."

The comet returned, as he had foretold, seventeen years after his death, when it was seen first by a man in Saxony. In consequence the comet was called after Halley. Since then famous astronomers have calculated the date for the comet's return. In 1835, the last time, the comet returned within a few nights of their prediction. Seventy-five years ago the astronomers of that day predicted that the comet would be plainly visible after dark in May of this year. It has already been seen with powerful telescopes and the prediction will be realized again.

A correspondent who asks: "Will it mark the beginning of the end?" writes as follows:—

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir,—As the time approaches for the appearance of Halley's Comet people are asking, "What will happen?" That something will happen, as the result of the comet's near approach to the earth, there is good cause for apprehension. What this something will end in time only will disclose. Our earth must, necessarily, be influenced by a body so large, so gaseous and travelling at so great speed. There may not be the remotest chance of the comet coming near enough to the earth to cause world-wide or even very extensive disaster, still there are other reasons why we should not close our eyes to the probabilities that a visit of this kind may bring about. Tidal waves, heat waves, atmospheric compression, earthquake, sudden storms of wind and rain, are among some of the probabilities that the near approach of the comet may occasion.

Wild rumors, such as have been and are now being circulated in many places over the earth, in reference to what the coming of the comet may portend, should not cause undue anxiety. The Rev. Wynne Evans of Llandrindad Wells, a well-known Second Adventist, believes that the coming of the comet forewarns us of an event that will herald in the close of this present dispensation. He adduces Biblical prophecies and Eastern forecasts in favor of his belief, and the article he contributes to the "Welsh Evangelist Monthly," contains a quotation from a conversation that took place nearly fifty years ago, between the Rev. John Miles, a great Eastern scholar, and Amaran, the high priest, in answer to the question when their Messiah would appear. "We have no indisputable definite date but our greatest Samaritan authorities expect the Messiah's appearances in the year 1910 of the Christian era, which will be marked by portents which we are not allowed to disclose to unbelievers." This appearance of the comet, the twenty-fourth, since the destruction of Jerusalem (70 A.D.) is the last of the series.

On the 19th of the month, the high priest in answer to the question when they Al Mudy or Messiah was expected to appear, says, "We have no indisputable definite date but our greatest Samaritan authorities expect the Messiah's appearances in the year 1910 of the Christian era, which will be marked by portents which we are not allowed to disclose to unbelievers." This appearance of the comet, the twenty-fourth, since the destruction of Jerusalem (70-72 A. D.), is believed by many to indicate a notable fullness of time that will make the present year remarkable. However, there is one thing certain, whatever changes may take place this earth, on which we live and move, will continue to roll on for at least another one thousand years, and Halley's Comet will be seen by quite a few more generations. Montreal Star.

Washington, April 11.—Halley's comet was seen here yesterday for the first time by Professor Asaph Hall, of the Naval Observatory, and his assistant, through the 26-inch telescope. For about fifteen minutes the comet remained visible to the naked eye.

The comet may produce electrical and magnetic effects, but these can be detected only by self-recording instruments.

Evansville, Ind., April 11.—Scores of people in this community complain that they are unable to get enough sleep; in fact, in several instances people have slept for fifteen or twenty four hours and still were sleepy. They attribute this inclination to sleep to Halley's comet.

Halifax, N. S., April 11.—Halley's comet is reported to have been seen with the naked eye yesterday morning just before sunrise, from some of the fishing villages along the western shore.

SPRING BLOOD IS BAD BLOOD

How to Get New Health and New Strength in the Spring.

Even the most robust find the winter months trying to their health. Confinement indoors in often overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, the office, the shops and the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery, or clogged with impurities. Sometimes you get up in the morning just as tired as when you went to bed. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor; others are low spirited and nervous; still others have pimples and skin eruptions. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order. Many people rush to purgative medicines in the spring. This is a mistake. You can't cure these troubles with a medicine which gallops through your system, and is sure to leave you weaker still. What you need to give you health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine and the one always reliable tonic and blood-builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish spring ills, but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anaemia, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism, and other diseases due to bad blood.
 Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich blood which strengthens every nerve, every organ and every part of the body.
 Try this medicine this spring and you will have strength and energy to resist the torrid heat of the coming summer.

Mr. Geo. W. Johnson, Hemford,
 N. S., says: "A couple of years ago when I came home from a lumbering camp where I had been employed my blood was in such a condition that my whole body broke out in boils—some six and eight in a nest.
 These were so painful that I was confined to the house and for three months was treated by my family doctor. I got no better; in fact the sores began to eat into my flesh, and at times were so offensive that I refused to sit at the table with my family. A friend asked me one day why I did not give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I decided to do so. I got six boxes and before they were all gone the sores began to disappear and my system was much strengthened. I continued using the pills until I had taken twelve boxes, when every boil and sore had disappeared, and I have since enjoyed the very best of health."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 5 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville,

 an ingenious mechanism for warn-

OR, THE HERITAGE OF MADAME

YALTA.

CHAPTER V.—(Cont'd)

He leaned toward the colonel who, on hearing the word, said:

"It is useless, my dear Ivan; but tell me, you are sent, then, on an extraordinary mission?"

"So extraordinary that the general allowed me only two hours to make my arrangements."

"And what is its purport?"

"Yourself, my dear Alexis Stepa-novitch."

"Me! of what am I accused?"

"Of negligence, or rather im-prudence. It seems you placed all your important papers in a casket and had the singular idea of depositing it with your banker."

"I could not but believe it a safer place than my own house. I was known to the Nihilists who have agents everywhere, and was uncertain of some of my people."

"It is not the less true that the box has been stolen, and doubtless by those whose measures you apprehend."

"True; and I was wrong not to render an account of the affair to those who have a right to know. I had reasons for acting thus, which I will explain presently. May I ask by whom the chiefs have been so well instructed?"

"You do not suspect? There is, however, a French proverb which asserts that one is never betrayed
 but by his own."

"Betrayed by my own! I have here neither friends nor relatives."

"You have an attendant, my dear Alexis Stepanovitch," said the envoye, laughing.

"Vaci! what; this knave has been acting the spy on me and corresponding with the department?"

"He was authorized to do so, that I can inform you. You must be aware that, in foreign parts especially, each one is watched,— sometimes by a comrade whom he is himself charged with overlooking.
 It is a system of mutual observation, against which it is useless to recriminate. And I enjoin you very earnestly not to let fall your anger upon this subaltern who was, after all, simply exercising his functions."

"I will beware of doing so. He would be capable of inventing cal-unny on me to avenge himself.
 Perhaps he has already done so,
 for I suppose he was not satisfied to narrate the story of the casket?"

"He wrote that instead of opening an intelligent inquest you had set to work very clumsily."

"Then he has stated that I have laid hold upon a young man who was suspected of being the accomplice of the thieves?"

"He has told all. He has exposed the means to which you had recourse to obtain possession of his person and the embarrassment in which you now find yourself how to dispose of him. He even declared that you were on the point of despatching him by the secret means denunciations have been listened to at St. Petersburg. But we will consult together whether something better may not be done. Important papers have been stolen from you, that is unfortunate, but it is not an irreparable disaster; and instead of concentrating ourselves on the discovery of the thieves, we must extend our operations. It is the chiefs we must reach and not the miserable subalterns who do not even know the real end of the execrable sect with which they are affiliated."

"These chiefs I hoped to arrive at by pursuing the simple soldiers, and I persist in the belief that if this Carnoel has been concerned in the theft of my papers, it was a woman who instigated him, and a woman occupying a high place in the association."

"Perfectly reasoned; but you have not the slightest conception who this woman is. Between ourselves, my dear Alexis, since you have been in France you might have used more sagacity. Thus, we have known at home that you have been occupied with a number of Russians who reside in or pass through Paris, who are not worth observing. It is wellnigh certain that these Nihilist rascals are directed in this country by a French woman, and that this woman is—but what is the matter, my dear friend?
 You are not listening."

"Excuse me," said Borisoff, "a gentleman who entered just now distracted my attention for a moment."

"That tall young man at the other end of the hall?"

"Yes. He is the nephew of my banker, and took into his head yesterday to question me as to what I had done with M. de Carnoel. I asked him out of my house. He announced that he would send me his seconds. I have not seen them, but am not without anxiety with regard to that madcap."

"He seems little inclined to pick a quarrel with you. See, he has taken a seat at a distance, and does not appear to notice you."

It was true. Maxime Dorgeres, whom chance had led there, true to his promise to the countess, was not thinking of resuming with the colonel the stormy conversation of the day previous. He did not look toward Borisoff, nor the latter toward him.

But the companion of the colonel had attracted his attention from the first, and whilst affecting to be absorbed in the menu, he cast stoler glances at Mouriatine.

"It is strange," he said to himself, "surely I have seen that face somewhere—and that not long ago either. I have a memory for faces, and this one is not commonplace.
 He certainly has not a French head. Probably he is Russian, since he is dining with that scoundrel Borisoff."

ish Railroads.
At a Midland Railway siding out in Kettering, England, last week an ingenious mechanism for warning locomotive engineers was tried. It not only warns the engineer 800 yards before he reaches it whether a signal is at "danger" or "clear," but prints a record on a tape machine in the cab showing how each signal has stood during a run.

The inspectors first ordered a signal to be set at danger. Then, leaning from the engine cab, they directed the engineer to approach the signal at a fast pace. At a point far enough away from the signal for a train to have been pulled up without overrunning it, a small wheel projecting from a lever below the engine touched a rod on the permanent way. Immediately a red label with the word "Danger" upon it appeared in a small brass box before the driver's eyes, a small red lamp above flashed out, and the whistle of the engine sounded.

The label showed, the lamp remaining lighted, and the whistle continued to blow until the engineer touched a lever and released the mechanism. Again, when the engine approached the lowered signal a green label marked "Clear" came into view, in the engine, a green light showed, and an electric bell rang.

A MODERN MEDICINE FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

No sane mother would wish herself treated under the condition of medicine or surgery of half a century ago. Why then should she give her tender little child the old-fashioned medicines that have not changed in half a century, and which more likely than not contain poisonous opiates that will not cure the child, but merely drug it into temporary insensibility. Baby's Own Tablets is a modern medical science. This medicine cures all stomach, bowel, teething and other ailments of childhood and babyhood. And the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that it contains no opiate or poisonous drug. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NO BENDING.

The village Sunday School treat was in full swing, and after a rollicking time, the youngsters were now engaged on a heavy tea.

Little Johnny, though unaccustomed to very rich fare, had been eating until he could not accommodate another mouthful, and he was consequently feeling slightly uncomfortable.

"Shall I lift you down, my little man?" was the gentle inquiry of a lady helper who had noticed the youth wriggling about on the seat.

"Yes, please, mum," assented Johnny, whose distended anatomy made him hold himself as stiff as a poker. "Yer can lift me down," and here his look was truly pathetic, "but please don't bend me!"

was suspected of being the accomplice of the thieves?"

"He has told all. He has exposed the means to which you had recourse to obtain possession of his person and the embarrassment in which you now find yourself how to dispose of him. He even declared that you were on the point of despatching him by the secret means that are made use of on great occasions. And I will not conceal from you that he animadverted warmly upon your course."

"Criticism is easy, but I should like to know what the rascal would have done in my place. It is true that, despairing of extracting anything from this Carnoel, I had thought of sending him to Siberia, but I have abandoned the idea. If you could indicate to me a method of disposing of him without compromising anything, you would oblige me infinitely."

"Well, we will talk over all this at dinner. And after dinner, if you will, we will go to the opera."

"I see with pleasure, my dear Ivan Ivanovitch," said the colonel, laughing, "that business does not hinder you from thinking of pleasure while in Paris."

"All goes together perfectly. You shall see. I have reason to believe we shall not lose our evening. But let us begin by preparing ourselves. My appetite is voracious, and I mean to do justice to the cuisine and wines of France."

Whilst talking they had reached the fashionable cabaret recently opened on the Avenue de l'Opera.

Borisoff desired nothing better than to enter, for he was greatly annoyed by this bombshell that had fallen into his life, and this desultory conversation unnerved him. Wine unties the most discreet tongues, and he hoped that at table this representative of the great chief would unmask his real purpose.

Ivan Ivanovitch spoke French as fluently as his own tongue, and ordered his repast with an ease which gained him the esteem of the waiters.

No one supposed him to be a Russian until the end of the first course, when the colonel, who had hitherto confined himself to current trivialities, in endeavoring to lead the conversation back to the interesting topic took the precaution to return to his native tongue. He first questioned Mouriatine adroitly with regard to the chief and certain employees of the Third Section, and if there had still lingered any doubts as to the authenticity of the mission with which said Mouriatine declared himself charged, they must have been dispelled by the first replies of that personage. The envoy was thoroughly acquainted with the most secret machinery of the administration which he represented. Evidently he played an important role in the political police.

It was the new-comer who took up the thread of conversation where it had been dropped on the boulevard.

"My dear sir," he said, pouring the colonel out the doventh glass of eliquot, "I must protest in advance against an intention which you might attribute to me. I did not come to Paris for the purpose of sustaining your steward against you. I do not even wish to see him, and you may count on his remaining ignorant of the nature of my mission. He need not suppose his absorbed in the menu, he cast stolen glances at Mouriatine.

"It is strange," he said to himself, "surely I have seen that face somewhere—and that not long ago either. I have a memory for faces, and this one is not commonplace. He certainly has not a French head. Probably he is Russian, since he is dining with that scoundrel Borisoff."

On their part, the two foreigners had resumed their drinking, and talking in Russian as before the arrival of Maximie.

"Let us forget this gentleman and return to the woman of whom we were speaking. We have reason to suppose that it is she who conducts everything in Paris, and I am firmly convinced that she organized the theft of your casket."

"You say she is French?"

"French by birth, but of Polish origin, and intimately connected with all the enemies of Russia."

"It is very extraordinary, if she lives in Paris, that she has not been marked out."

"She has only recently been denounced to the Third Section; but you might have met with her, for she must have been revolving round you, so to speak."

"In the world in which I move?"

"No, my dear Alexis; you move only in the true, and it is a mistake. Our chief said so to me the evening before my departure."

"What world should I frequent to satisfy him?"

"All of them, including the half which you have entirely neglected."

"Because there was nothing to be learned there. You know as well as I do that in this country the femmes galantes are not engaged in politics, especially foreign politics. They make the most of us willingly, we Russians, but they do not conspire against our government."

"There are exceptions, and the person whom I have mentioned is one."

"Then this person is a demoiselle a coquette, to speak more precisely."

"She is an irregular, but not one of the creatures whom one meets everywhere. She is very little known. It might be said, moreover, that she is intermittent, for she does not always reside in Paris. She is to be seen at Nice, at Monaco, at Geneva, and her journeyings have always one end. It was at Geneva that she was pointed out to me last summer."

"Ah! you know her then by sight?"

"Better than that. I got presented by one of my compatriots, whom she had bewitched and must have ruined. I had some suspicion that Thanks to her character of pleasure-seeker, no one suspects her, and she has every facility for connecting herself with those Russians from whom she hopes to extract valuable information. It was thus that two months ago she was here openly, under the protection of one of our generals, who was here on furlough."

"I must at least know her name," murmured Borisoff.

"She changes it frequently. When I met her it was Madame de Garches. Here she has assumed, I am told, some vulgar name. But had you been better informed of what transpires in the camp of adventuresses, this one could not have failed to attract your attention, to say nothing of her beauty, which is marvellous."

"I confess I had not even a suspicion of her existence," said the colonel, somewhat piqued; "and until the contrary is proved you will permit me to doubt the fact of her having stolen my papers."

"She has not taken them with her own hand, but they were stolen by her orders and under her instructions."

"Then she knows me?"

"She has possibly never seen you, but she must have been aware of the nature of your casket, and of the deposit of this casket with your banker. Around her swarm agents obscure but well informed and always ready to do her bidding. She had but to make a sign and the casket was brought to her."

"You admit, then, that this Carnoel was of the band, and that I was not wrong to secure him?"

"On that point I am not yet settled. It is possible that he gave indications, and may even have given them undesignedly. This lady is very skilful in making persons speak. The thing is to ascertain whether she had relations with the young man, and of that I can easily satisfy myself."

"I am curious to know how."

"Dear Alexis Stepanowitch, you shall see, and that shortly. I came to Paris to clear up this matter. If you wish, we will begin this evening."

"Where?"

"At the opera. The lady will probably be there. She has returned to Paris without a cavalier, to spread her nets in the hope of capturing a Russian sufficiently high in place to serve without suspecting her. Why should you not be this Russian?"

"If you are mad! You have just said that she knows what my occupation is in Paris."

"The more reason for her seeking to connect herself with you. If she has not already tried it, it is because the occasion has not presented itself. Remember, she is persuaded you will take her simply for a femme galante. She will not suspect that you know anything about her. She supposes herself to have all the advantage, and asks nothing better than to attract the man most formidable to her sect. This is, as you must know, their method. These ladies ingratiate themselves by every means with the enemies of their sect, that they may surprise their secrets and hinder their action. They have always one foot in the enemy's camp, and thus it is that they accomplish so much

CURE WAS QUICK AND COMPLETE

DAME PARENT'S HEART DISEASE CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Suffered for Two Years but Now Advises all Troubled as She Was to Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a Trial.

St. Robert, Richelieu Co., Que., Mar. 28.—(Special).—"I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all my friends." These are the words of Dame Joseph Parent of this place. And the good dame gives excellent reasons why she does so. "For two years," she says, "I suffered from Heart Disease, Headache, Backache and a dragging sensation across the loins. Seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I hope all who are troubled as I was will give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial."

Some people may ask how Dodd's Kidney Pills, which are purely a Kidney remedy, can cure Heart Disease. And the answer is simple. Diseased Kidneys fail to drain the impurities out of the blood. If these impurities are left in the blood they not only increase the work of the heart in propelling the blood through the body, but act on the valves causing disease. Pure blood removes the cause of the disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills make pure blood by putting the Kidneys in condition to strain all the impurities out of it.

Explosion on a British Ship Caused a Panic at Sea.

A despatch from Dover, England, says: A terrific explosion occurred early on Thursday morning on the British steamer Cairnrona, off Dungeness, which wrecked the women's quarters, killing one child and injuring a number of women and children. The steamer caught fire and a panic ensued, in which men fought for the possession of the boats, and had to be beaten back by the crew to allow the women to be taken off first. A large number of the passengers were landed here on Thursday night, many of them in an exhausted condition. In all, twenty persons were seriously, and not less than fifty slightly, injured by the explosion and in the panic that followed.

The Cairnrona sailed on Wednesday from London for Portland, Maine. She carried 900 passengers, for the most part immigrants, and a general cargo. By good luck the steamers Upland and Kanawha were close at hand when the Cairnrona caught fire, and stood by and took off several hundred passengers and landed them here. Several of the first-class passengers and American cattlemen gave thrilling details of the accident. A number of women with children in their arms were sitting on a hatch, when suddenly a violent explosion hurled them to all parts of the deck. Some of them were shockingly injured, and one child was killed. The hatch was blown to fragments.

A terrible panic ensued, the emigrants, mostly Russians, running up and down, screaming and wringing their hands. Their terror was increased by the volume of smoke which poured from the burning hold. The captain and officers made ineffectual efforts to calm them, and then signals of distress were sent up. In the meantime another explosion occurred in the engine room, injuring several of the engineers.

The Kanawha and Upland steamed up quickly, and the captain decided to transfer all the passengers. This was accomplished speedily, but was accompanied by scandalous scenes. Scores of men tried to rush the boats, and many of them fought with the women, tearing and dragging them under foot. The crew battled valiantly against the panic-stricken emigrants, using fists and feet and any weapon they could find. Not a few of the frantic mob of men were felled to the deck before the hysterical, fainting women and children could be gotten to the boats. In the stampede four persons fell or were pushed into the sea and were rescued with difficulty.

LAND FOR ALL COMERS.

Over 60 Per Cent. of Western Territory Uncultivated.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The Department of the Interior has issued a new homestead map of the prairie Provinces, showing at a glance the disposal of lands already taken up and the amount yet available for settlement. Out of a total area of 334,894,320 acres, the surveyed area is now 145,249,985 acres. The total area under homestead entry, including patented homesteads, is 44,027,000 acres. Railway grant lands total 31,864,074 acres; school lands, 7,948,500 acres; Hudson's Bay Co. lands, 6,565,000 acres, and lands otherwise disposed of, 11,490,100 acres. The total area under grain crop last year was 11,960,000 acres, of which the area under wheat was 6,878,000 acres, producing 147,000,000 bushels. The total area cultivated is only as yet about one-fifth of the total surveyed area, considerably less than one-third of the homestead land, and about one-twenty-eighth of the total land area.

A WEED EPIDEMIC PROBABLE.

Provincial Report Issues Warning to the Farmers.

A despatch from Toronto says: The annual Provincial report of the agricultural societies, just issued, records the fact that during the past year the number of societies entered in the standing field or ps competition had increased by 64 per cent. The reports of the judges show that there is considerable attention being paid by farmers to securing better and purer seed grain, and also to improved cultivation of the land and the eradication of weeds. The report expresses anxiety over the growth of weeds. "The alarming rate at which the perennial sow thistle is spreading over the Province," it declares, "calls for strenuous work on the part of farmers in combating this subtle weed foe. . . . Unless steps are taken at once to check it, in a very short time it will be found everywhere."

COUGHING BURST

BLOOD VESSEL.

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours.

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment, which cures some in five hours. Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid white cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a

CANADA'S BEST YEAR.

Income Will Exceed One Hundred Millions.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The returns of revenue and expenditure of the Dominion received by the Finance Department up to the night of March 31st, and published in the regular monthly financial statement of Friday, bear out the forecast made some days ago, that the total revenue for the fiscal year will, when all the returns are in, be over one hundred millions; and the surplus of revenue over all ordinary expenditure will be close to the twenty million mark, both figures constituting a remarkable new record.

num, according to experience. There are also openings for four hundred married couples at wages of $350 to $400 per annum. The immigration authorities have situations available for eight thousand men.

C. P. R. ORDERING CARS.

Will Spend Two Million Dollars This Summer.

A despatch from Montreal says: The Canadian Pacific is ordering a large amount of rolling stock in anticipation of a heavy rush of business. Orders have been given for over two million dollars' worth of box cars to be delivered before the Fall rush. It is announced that the first sailing of the Canadian Pacific's Upper Lake fleet from Owen Sound to Fort William will take place on Saturday, April 16, or two weeks earlier than usual.

SILVER DOLLARS

Will be Coined in Canada's Mint For the West.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The bill to revise the Currency Act was passed in the House on Friday afternoon after a discussion, during which Mr. Fielding announced that a Canadian silver dollar would be coined in future at the Royal Mint. The new coin was to be issued chiefly because the people of the Pacific coast preferred silver currency to paper money.

Farmer in Winnipeg River Used Gun to Suicide.

SHORTER HOURS, HIGHER PAY

Demand of Men in Building Trade in Germany.

A despatch from Berlin says: The officers of the Government are doing what they can to avert the threatened strike in the building trades. Some 350,000 men, members of the Socialist Federation of Trades Unions and the Christian Trades Unions, including builders, carpenters, masons, bricklayers and laborers, have rejected the wage scale offered by the master builders. The men seek shorter hours and increased wages, and insist that the new wage tariff shall be drawn up by an equal number of representatives of employers and employed. The master builders have declined to agree to a mutually decided wage scale.

DESERTED HIS KEY.

C. P. R. Operator Sent to Jail for Three Months.

A despatch from Regina says: The night operator, Voyer, of the C. P. R. train office, was on Friday morning sent to jail for three months for deserting his key on Wednesday evening. He was intoxicated, and gave the despatcher the "good night" signal. Fortunately the agent was secured, and danger to trains was averted by a new man taking the key. Voyer made his own defence, and contended that as Regina was a divisional point all trains must stop here. There was no danger through his deserting the key. The Magistrate decided to make an example of Voyer, this being the second case within a week.

SEEDING IN THE WEST.

In some parts the work is scarcely begun, while in others it is almost completed.

SOW CROPS EARLY.

Professor Zavitz Advises Farmers to Lose No Time.

A despatch from Guelph says: Prof. Zavitz, of the Ontario Agricultural College, believes that the farmers would be wise to sow their cereal crops and grass and clover seeds as soon as possible. He said on Friday morning that during the 25 years which he had been at the Agricultural College the present Spring surpasses all others in the early growth of the Winter-sown crops. The usual date for seeding is about the middle of April.

ZAM-BUK
IT SAVES MOTHERS MONEY!

Zam-Buk spells saving to you! Suppose husband, wife or some member of the family sustains a cut or a bad scratch, which festers or turns to blood-poisoning. Result—off work! What does that mean at pay day? Zam-Buk prevents wounds, cuts or injuries "turning the wrong way." Apply it immediately, and it kills the poison and starts healing.

There is another aspect. If you have in the family, eczema, ringworm, ulceration, or any skin disease, try Zam-Buk first—don't spend money on experimenting! You will have to get Zam-Buk eventually. Do it now; and save cost of the other things. Hear these persons:—

Mr. A. M. Brooks, Wellington Street, Steelton, Ont., says:—"If only I had got Zam-Buk at first, it would have saved me scores of dollars; as well as hours of agony." Mr. Brooks has been cured of eczema. He says:—"My neck, chest and body were covered with the terrible disease. The itching, burning and smarting I suffered, none who has not gone through it can tell! Doctors' lotions, salves and prescriptions didn't do me a bit of good; and from one thing to another I passed, only to find them useless. With Zam-Buk it was different, and without going through a long story, I can say that a few weeks' treatment with this great healing balm healed the sores, and rid me for good of the terrible eczema, which had held me in its grip for over ten months!"

"If I had applied Zam-Buk in the first place, instead of trying the other preparations, I should have saved myself a lot of money." So says Mrs. B. E. Bedwell, of 837 Provencher St., Bonita, Winnipeg. Mrs. Bedwell had a cut finger, which became poisoned, she says:—"It became swollen and discolored, and my whole arm ached and throbbled violently. I called in a doctor and he lanced it. You may imagine how I suffered, and despite the doctor's treatment the finger soon festered, and got so bad that the doctor advised me to go into the hospital. I feared, if I did, they would cut it off, so refused. One day we were advised to try Zam-Buk. We left off everything else and gave this balm a trial. Well, it only took about four days to draw out the soreness! Then, bit by bit, it began to heal, and in less than three weeks from first applying the Zam-Buk the finger was healed and perfectly healthy. If only I had got Zam-Buk at first!"

All skin injuries and diseases are cured by Zam-Buk. Eczema, eruptions, pimples, ulcers, rashes, inflamed patches, cuts, burns, scalds, chaps, etc., cannot resist its healing virtue. 50¢ box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse all imitations.

The Ingredients Used In

NA-DRU-CO

Medicinal and Toilet Preparations are of the same high quality as those your druggist uses in filling your physician's prescriptions.

The National Drug and Chemical Company supplies the greater part of the drugs dispensed by the physicians and druggists of Canada, and it is probable that the ingredients used by your own druggist in his prescription work came from our warehouses.

From these same warehouses come the ingredients used by our expert chemists in compounding NA-DRU-CO preparations. Every ounce of material used in every NA-DRU-CO article is the best that our skilled buyers can select from the world's markets.

We Can Afford

to use only the very best materials because, buying in immense quantities for our wholesale trade, we get the best crude drugs at rock bottom prices. In our chemical laboratories these raw materials are refined and prepared by expert chemists and subjected to rigid tests both for strength and purity before being used in NA-DRU-CO preparations.

NA-DRU-CO Cod Liver Oil Compound, for instance, is made from the best of materials, by our expert chemists, and is consequently the most perfect tonic. NA-DRU-CO Nervozone is another striking example of the results our skilled chemists get from good ingredients.

ALWAYS LOOK FOR THIS TRADE MARK

We Could Not Afford

to use any but the finest and purest materials in each and every NA-DRU-CO preparation, because on the quality of each depends the future of the whole line. Linked together as they are by the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark, a single article found unreliable would go far to destroy your confidence in all NA-DRU-CO goods.

Ask your druggist about the quality of the drugs we supply to him—about our facilities for compounding superior medicinal and toilet preparations—about our reliability.

Go a little further if you like, and ask your physician or your druggist what goes into NA-DRU-CO preparations. They can tell you, for we will furnish to any physician or druggist in Canada, on request, a full list of the ingredients in any NA-DRU-CO preparation.

"Money Back"

Furthermore, if any NA-DRU-CO article you buy does not entirely satisfy you, return it and your druggist will refund your money.

If your druggist has not the NA-DRU-CO article you want in stock he can get it for you within two days from our nearest wholesale branch.

UNNATURAL THINNESS EASILY CORRECTED.

By Clever Prescription Which Can Be Filled at Any Drug Store.

No Need to be Thin Now as Reports Show This Method Effective.

People who are very thin and scrawny ought not to be so. Undoubtedly they are more subject to disease and contagions than the normally fleshy. Thinness is usually accompanied by weakness, and weakness subjects any one to colds,
 coughs, consumption, pneumonia,
 etc. It has been discovered, almost by accident, that tincture cadomene, when combined in a prescription with proper accelerative medicines, becomes one of the most valuable, effective and reliable nutritive or flesh making medicines known to science. It is especially beneficial to men and women between the ages of sixteen and fifty-five, who from lack of proper nerve force and digestion, remain undeveloped in body, limbs, arms and bust. A well rounded symmetrical figure in man or woman indicate health, magnetism, stamina and happiness.

The reader who wishes to add from ten to forty pounds should not fail to begin with this valuable prescription:

First, obtain of any well stocked druggist, three ounces of essence of peppin and three ounces of syrup of rhubarb in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol. Shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardom-nom). Shake well and take one teaspoonful before each meal, one after each meal. Drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Keep up this treatment regularly and of a certainty from one to three pounds will be added to the weight each week, and the general health will also improve.

TWO IMMENSE DRYDOCKS

Sir Robert Perks Says That a Company
 Has Been Organized to Build Them.

A despatch from Ottawa says: contractor now in this country.
 Canada is to have two immense dry-docks. One will be built at Levis and the other at St. John. They will not be less than 900 feet long and 100 feet wide, and will have a depth of 35 feet on the sill. It is probable that in connection with the St. John lock a steel shipbuilding plant will be established.
 The government bill provides a subsidy of three and a half per cent.
 for 35 years on drydocks of not less than 900 feet.

Sir Robert Perks, the London says that a company to build the drydocks is being registered. "On this company," he said, "Harland

 & Wolff will be represented by Lord
 Paig; Canadian Pacific by Sir Thos.
 Staghnessy; the Allan Steamship
 Co. by one of that firm; McArthur, Perks & Co., by myself, and there will also be as incorporators Mr.
 Debell of Quebec, Mr. Davies of Levis and W. E. Foster of St. John.
 We will be prepared to begin construction work soon after the dry-docks aid measure becomes law.

OTTAWA NEWS.

Why They Retired,

The Conservative members of the Lumsden investigation retired ingloriously from the committee because they saw the "jig was up." The only possible way in which they could place what they fondly hoped would prove to be good campaign material on Hansard was to do it through the channel of an imaginary grievance.

Commissioners Exonerated.

Out of the mouth of the chief witness, Mr. Lumsden, they found that he made no charge against the commissioners, and that he attributed nothing worse than lack of judgment to the engineers. Subsequently Mr. Lumsden modified his view by saying that the expression "lost confidence" in his engineers was an unfortunate one.

Abuse Is Not Argument.

Referring to an account of what occurred before the Lumsden committee, Mr. Lennox said in the House he had been misrepresented by "a lying pamphlet" circulated every day during the session dealing with the investigation. This pamphlet does not go out every day during the session. Who does the lying?

What Lennox Alleged in House.

Mr. Lennox also said, Hansard, page 6166, March 31:—

"No member of the minority committee suggested that Mr. Lumsden should have counsel." Then again on the same page he said: "It is also the controversy (Mr. Lumsden) to have counsel, when he said that it was advisable for both sides to be represented by counsel.

Evidence Which Is Conclusive.

When the matter came up in the House Mr. Lennox endeavored to make it appear that the commissioners were on trial, although he had expressed a different opinion before the committee. The following dialogue found on page 11 of the printed evidence proves this:—

Mr. MacDonald: The Commissioners are not on trial here, and there is no use in your saying so.

Mr. Lennox: I have not said so.

Double Face Attitude.

In the face of this acknowledgement Mr. Lennox stated in the House, Hansard, page 6166, March 31.

"We recognized from the first that not Mr. Lumsden but the commission, and ultimately the Government, were the people on trial."

When brought face to face with the question in committee, Mr. Lennox denied ever having said the commissioners were on trial, and yet in the House he has the effrontery to say that the "minority recognized from the first that the commissioners were on trial."

Lennox Admits His Incompetence.

The facts are very simple. Mr. Lennox, as usual, assumed a front place in the deliberations of the committee and quickly realized that he was unable to cope with the able men who confronted him, and this incompetence on his part he frankly acknowledges. Hansard, page 6166, March 31, Mr. Lennox says:—

"Perhaps sometimes I am recklessly bold. I do not mean that I can fight effectively, or that I am a match for the hon. gentlemen who were on that committee. I do not think I was."

The reason Mr. Lennox and his friends retired from the committee was primarily that no blame be attached to the government and because they were outclassed at the very commencement of the inquiry. By a few subtle, apparently innocent questions, Mr. MacDonald secured from Mr. Lumsden a statement that he made no charges against the commissioners, and that no wrongdoing was suggested on the part of the engineers.

Mr. Lennox found that he was no match for the Liberal representatives on the committee, and that his presence there would lead to no results.

The people will compare the statements of Mr. Lennox while on the committee and his statements in the House and there will be no difficulty in arriving at a conclusion as to the credibility of the several parties to this controversy.

Mr. Lennox has labored for years in matters affecting the Transcontinental commission, and in the end the "mountain brought forth a mouse."

Waster of Public Funds.

Industry may be misapplied. Mr. Lennox is industrious, but he does not get results. Last week he put the country to an expense of $200 a day to probe into affairs between a country lawyer and the justice department. There was not a point in the case, but he kept it going and the people pay the piper.

Conservatives Utterly Disorganized

The statements made from time to time that the Conservative party is in a strange condition of mix-up, finds ample corroboration the past week in the columns of their own press. The matter is alluded to for the purpose of illustrating how accurately the situation has been depicted and forecast through Liberal sources.

It is openly stated that all the reasons and causes of dissatisfaction have not been made public. Some of them

A Strenuous Preacher.

Whitfield, one of the founders of Methodism, who died in 1770, was a strenuous preacher. His usual program was forty hours' solid speaking each week and this to congregations measured in thousands, but he often spoke for sixty hours. This was not all, for after his labors, instead of taking rest, he was engaged in offering up prayers and sometimes in singing hymns, as if he were in every house to which he came.

What Lennox Alleged in House.

Mr. Lennox also said, Hansard, page 6166, March 31:—
"No member of the minority committee suggested that Mr. Lumsden should have counsel." Then again on the same page he said: "It is absolutely false to say that the minority of the committee ever urged that Mr. Lumsden should have counsel."

What does the printed evidence say on this point?

What Lennox Said in Committee.

Page 10 of the printed report of the special committee says:—
Mr. Lennox: It was mentioned the other day that the two parties concerned should be represented by counsel. Mr. Smith, I understand appears for the commissioners.

The Chairman: Yes.
Mr. Lennox: We have not yet asked whether Mr. Lumsden is represented by counsel.

The Chairman: Mr. Lumsden, are you represented by counsel.

Mr. Lumsden: I am not.

Mr. Lennox: In that case, I submit to the committee that it would be quite in accordance with what we said the other day, that it would be advisable at this inquiry to have both sides represented by counsel.

The Chairman: If Mr. Lumsden so desires, he is at liberty to have counsel.

He is Self-Condemed.

Mr. Lennox is here confronted with his own statement as it appears in the printed evidence. The position assumed by Mr. Lennox was properly interpreted as "a vain attempt to influence Mr. Lumsden and compel him to have counsel against his will." What other interpretation could be put on the words quoted above? The subject of Mr. Lumsden having counsel had been discussed. Mr. Lumsden, in the exercise of his undoubted right, declined to avail himself of counsel; and yet we find Mr. Lennox saying it would be advisable to have both sides represented by counsel.

What were the sides? Just Mr. Lumsden and the engineers in whom he stated he had lost confidence. There were two parties to the controversy. Mr. Lumsden, who had made the charges, and the engineers in whom he had lost confidence.

Lennox Logic.

The logic of Mr. Lennox's argument was: Here is the Transcontinental Commission, a party not charged with any wrongdoing, and only collaterally interested in the proceedings because their employees were attacked—represented by counsel and the man who makes the charges has no counsel.

Mr. Moss K. C. Toronto, represents the engineers, so that only one party to the controversy was represented by counsel, and Mr. Lennox assuredly tried to influence the other party to in a strange condition of mix-up, and ample corroboration the past week in the columns of their own press. The matter is alluded to for the purpose of illustrating how accurately the situation has been depicted and forecast through Liberal sources.

It is openly stated that all the reasons and causes of dissatisfaction have not been made public. Some of them are of general interest and might be of importance to the silent voter.

DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto.

Mr. Borden occupies a class by himself. There is a lack of loyalty in his following. Take the case of the Power Transmissions line this week. Mr. Borden submitted an amendment which was satisfactory to the government. His followers should have either repudiated their leader or followed his advice. They did not follow his advice, but they avail themselves of his leadership. This makes Mr. Borden impotent in his party.

New Men Are Failures.

Then there are a number of new men in the House who have their spurs to win, but whose actions indicate that they regard themselves as full-fledged knights. Among these there is much rivalry. It is noticeable that the ones who speak most are not among the most illustrious of Mr. Borden's party.

Some Tiresome Talkers.

Then again there are men who regard no subject brought before the House as complete until they have expressed themselves upon it. These men waste hours of time, they secure no concessions from the government, throw no new light upon the discussion but they do irritate the more moderate men of their party by their consistent attitude of obstruction and their tiresome verbosity.

Good Men Keep Silent.

Some of the best men on the Conservative side rarely speak, when they do, the government gives the greatest consideration to their views, and these men do useful public service, but they are so disgusted with the actions of those about them that their usefulness is greatly hampered.

Self-Constituted Deputy Leaders.

A source of daily irritation to many Conservatives is the assumption of deputy leadership by a few men who possess no qualification which would justify them in taking such prominent part in debate. This injures the party and annoys better men than themselves.

The blame for long sessions may be charged up to this class of men, who deliver tiresome harangues upon every subject that comes before the House.

Why Liberal Party Strong.

With knowledge of these things, so obvious to even a casual observer, is it any wonder that the Liberal party is strong in the House, and growing stronger in the country? The men on the front benches, and those near to the government, on the Liberal side, are acknowledged by all to be the best men in the party—men entitled to the prominence which there seats give them. They don't weary the House with discursive arguments upon every question which arises. When they address the House it is only after due preparation, and their contributions to debate are valuable and useful.

Absolute Unanimity.

Sir Wilfrid is the leader, no person questions his authority. When he makes a decision his party has confidence in his judgment to follow him. This is not the case upon the Opposition side, as has been pointed out. It is one of the sources of strength on the Liberal side.

Tories Don't Consult Each Other.

One-half of the Conservative party in the House does not know what the other half is engaged in politically. It is said Mr. Foster never consulted caucus neither did he disclose what his own intentions were, before bringing any matter up in the house. The never heard of it before it was shown to them, and there are many statements in it of which they disapprove. Poor politics they call it.

Yet this document is being franked out of the House by the thousand. It is campaign literature, pure and simple, mostly simple, and many Conservatives members see it for the first time in print. This is one example of lack of upshot purpose which keeps the party in a turmoil.

Helps Liberal Party.

La Canada, French Liberal paper, has reprinted the article in French without any comment. It will have about the same boomerang effect as did "The Duty of the Hour." It will show the French that in the English constituencies Sir Wilfrid is held up to the people as a "separatist," while in Quebec he is held up as an Imperialist. This is only a sample of the poor politics being played by a section of the Conservative party without the knowledge of many Conservative members.

Tories Denounce Each Other.

One incident in the house goes further than many that have been mentioned to prove the absence of unanimity in Conservative ranks. Mr. J. E. Armstrong having stated that the Toronto World, a Conservative paper, popularly supposed to be owned by Mr. W. F. McLean, Conservative M. P., was in reality controlled by the government, was called upon to withdraw by Mr. McLean and did so.

In the meantime Dr. Schaffner, Conservative, audibly stated that what Mr. Armstrong said was true, whereupon Mr. McLean called upon him also to withdraw, but as the speaker had not heard Dr. Schaffner, he could not do so. Thereupon Mr. McLean said:

Billy McLean's Rebuke.

"Then that hon. gentleman (Mr. Schaffner) has heard what I have said, and if he is manly he will get up and acknowledge that the insinuations he cast upon me, in my hearing, were unfounded, and he will withdraw them. If he does less than that, I say he is not fit to sit in this House and associate with gentlemen."

This is a sample of the feeling which prevails in the Conservative ranks. It is a party qualified to govern the country, when it cannot govern itself?

Canadian Navy Idea Popular.

The publication last week in the Liberal press of the facts as to the size of the vessels of the new Canadian navy has aroused much enthusiasm among the young men of Canada, and caused a corresponding sense of chagrin that the Conservative talk of a "tin pot" navy had been exposed. If members of the Conservative party are anxious that the truth should be known let them back up the government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he says that the Canadian navy will be a credit to the Dominion and offer an honorable career to our young men who desire to enter the service.

They Fear the Truth.

Upon this point it might be stated that Mr. Lennox and his friends would do better public service if they would devote their energies to circulating the truth as to the proposed navy, rather than characterize Liberal publications as lying pamphlets which tell the absolute, irrefutable truth, for the sole and only reason that the liberal truth is not palatable to Lennox, et al.

Liberal Publications Truthful.

The publications issued under the authority of the Liberal party cannot with impunity be described as "lying pamphlets." The author of them stands ready at all times to meet Mr. Lennox or any other man who challenges their veracity.

Farmers should eat more oatmeal.

Although the farmer of today is able to buy almost anything he wants to wear or to eat he isn't paying enough attention to food values when it comes to his own table.

He feeds his stock carefully, avoids over-feeding and selects the stock food that he believes will give the best return in strength and general efficiency.

If he has been watching the extensive researches and experiments on the question of the best human food for muscle and brain he will heed the advice from all sides to "eat more Quaker Oats."

Quaker Oats is mentioned because it is recognized in this country and Europe as the best of all oatmeals. Feeding farm hands on Quaker Oats means getting more work out of them than if you feed them on anything else.

One of the reasons why the Liberal party holds the confidence of the people is that upon all public questions, the plain, unvarnished facts are presented, and the people are left to form their own opinion upon those facts.

The Megallanic clouds are two cloudy masses of light, oval in shape and unequal in size, seen at right in the heavens in the vicinity of the south pole. They are supposed to be nebulae, or dense aggregations of stars, so far distant as to give to the unassisted eye the impression of cloud-like masses. They cover areas of 42 and 10 square degrees respectively and are so named in honor of Ferdinand Magellan, the great Portuguese navigator, who first observed them in 1529 during his voyage around the globe.

MEN—YOU NEED NERVE

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early Indiscretions and Excesses have ruined thousands of young men. Unnatural Drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically and sexually. How you feel? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loss, etc.

A Great Enterprise Comes to Napanee

T. B. Wallace Makes an Important Connection With the Largest Co-operative Corporation in America, Backed by Men Doing an Annual Business Amounting to $75,000,000.

People of Napanee Benefited

T. B. Wallace of this town, has with characteristic enterprise, demonstrated his ability to keep well abreast of the times by connecting himself with the largest druggists' co-operation in America. The men connected with this enterprise do a yearly business aggregating over $75,000,000, which well emphasizes its soundness and magnitude.

About three thousand retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada have organized themselves as a co-operative company for the purpose of producing a line of medical preparations which they recommend, absolutely guarantee and back up with their own names and personal reputations. The formulas of these remedies are thoroughly known to every one of these druggists and the ingredients of each will be truthfully described to the public and the remedies sold with the distinct understanding that their purchase price will be instantly refunded without question of quibble if they fail to benefit the user.

One thousand different formulas were turned over to the company. Each formula being selected because of its tested and proved value and established reputation, gained through continued and successful use by prominent physicians.

A research committee of expert chemists and physicians made a most thorough and exhaustive test of each one of these one thousand prescriptions until they had selected about three hundred as being the very best and most dependable known to medical science, each for the treatment and cure of a particular ailment.

These three hundred remedies are now manufactured by the company, which is known as the United Drug Co., Boston, Mass., and United Drug Co., Limited, Toronto, Canada, in the largest, most modern and best equipped pharmaceutical laboratories in America.

The tremendous output of this company enables it to purchase drugs, herbs and other necessary material in very large quantities. The co-operation and professional advice of 3000 leading druggists guarantees the high quality of everything used and guarantees that only formulas of extraordinary merit are used in the manufacturing of their products.

The preparations of the company are shipped direct to the retail druggists who are connected with the enterprise. Thus their absolute freshness is assured, it is impossible for their quality to deteriorate, there are no middlemen's or jobbers' profits to be added to their costs, and the public can obtain these products at actual cost of manufacture, plus a single retail profit.

One noticeable feature of this business, and a very commendable one, is that no one remedy manufactured by this company is a "cure-all." Each one of the 300 different remedies is a known and dependable specific for a particular ailment. The confidence of the druggists interested in this enterprise is unquestionably demonstrated by this guarantee, which is printed on every package: "The United Drug Co., Limited, and The Rexall Store selling this preparation guarantee it to give satisfaction. If it does not, go back to the store where you bought it and get your money—it belongs to you, and we want you to have it."

This is certainly an innovation that must appeal to the people of Napanee. It insures safety and satisfaction because our own local druggist, Mr. T. B. Wallace, who is so well known and highly respected for his integrity, is connected with this enterprise and is staking his own personal reputation on the quality of these remedies, and the very frankness with which he takes the people of Napanee into his confidence insures an unprecedented success for these remedies, which are sold under the trade-name Rexall which means King-of-all. From reports coming from thousands of towns and cities, the Rexall Remedies are certainly demonstrating their full title to the name.

Those who have previously refused to buy proprietary medicines because there was no way of ascertaining their ingredients, can now purchase Rexall Remedies, the formulas of which they can have for the asking. Besides, they are sold by a concern personally known to you and located right here in our own town, who guarantees that they are in every way as represented or they will cost nothing.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are the first of the three hundred remedies which are being introduced. Anyone in Napanee who suffers from stomach derangement, indigestion or dyspepsia should not hesitate to try this Rexall Remedy when they are so highly recommended and backed with such a strong guarantee.

Mr. T. B. Wallace is well and favorably known for his sterling honesty and square dealing that we predict a great success for him with the Rexall Remedies, and he is to be heartily congratulated in bringing this great and modern business enterprise to Napanee.

We urge all who may be in need of prepared medicines to call on Mr. T. B. Wallace and learn about the Rexall Remedies. Enterprise of this sort should be encouraged.

Don't Believe In Text-Books.

Gen. Sir Thomas Kelly-Kenny, who has just recovered from a serious illness, believes more in the efficiency of actual experience and training than in all the military text-books ever written. Once it was hinted to Sir Thomas that his methods were not approved by the text-books, "By all the laws of the text-books," replied the bluff and hearty soldier, "Moore should never have escaped from Corunna, and Wellington should have been crushed at Waterloo; Roberts' march to Kandahar should have been impossible, and De Wet should have been finally defeated and captured in a month. Text-books are good in their way, but the man who is going to be led by them will never win campaigns."

Asking Too Much.

The mother of little six-year-old Mary had told her a number of times not to hitch her sled to passing sleighs, feeling that it was a dangerous practice. It was such a fascinating sport, however, that Mary could not resist it, and one day her mother saw her go skimming past the house behind a farmer's bob.

When she came in from play she was taken to task, her mother saying severely: "Mary, haven't I told you that you must not hitch on to bobs? Besides, it is against the law."

Mary tossed her head. "Oh," she said, "don't talk to me about the law. It's all I can do to keep the Ten Commandments!"

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering."—Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

A CHILD GENIUS.

Ampere Dabbled in Mathematics at the Age of Three.

Ampere, who left his name to the science of electricity, was a child genius. At the age of three he had taught himself to count with the aid of pebbles and had found out for himself a good many of the theories of arithmetic. At this age he became very ill and was for three days denied food. At the end of the fast he was given a biscuit, but instead of eating it he broke it up into pieces to count with, an operation he considered more interesting.

He read everything with avidity. His mind did not run in one channel, and he welcomed every volume that came in his way. When he was ten or twelve years old he went to a library to ask for the works of a certain author. The librarian told him in amusement that the books were in Latin. The boy went home chagrined, for he did not know Latin, being a sickly child and held back from books as far as possible, but after six weeks he appeared again and told the librarian he had learned to read the books now.

Ampere is one of the few child prodigies who seems to have been sickly. He had fits from time to time, while most child wonders appear to have been physically normal in every respect.—Exchange.

ANOTHER STAR.

On Saturday next, April 9th there will be issued from the office of the Toronto Daily Star the first number of a new five-cent paper, to be named "The Toronto Star Weekly." One might naturally suppose the newspaper field was filled to overflowing, and that there could be no fixed place in the newspaper firmament for even another star—but the management have traveled to more successes than one under the banner inscribed "find a place or make one," and they mean that there shall be no exception to this rule in putting "The Toronto Star Weekly" in the field.

There is always demand for the "better goods" and from every viewpoint in bright and aggressive newspaper production to-day "The Toronto Star Weekly" will be the best yet in Canada.

Mr. Joseph T. Clark will be the editor, and he has gathered about him an army of associates and contributors that will be a warrant for the quality of the matter, whether it be on the affairs of everyday life, morals, literature, politics, business, amusements, sports, successes or failures.

"The Toronto Star Weekly" will contain serial fiction, short stories, anecdotes of public men, cartoons, comics, and a score more features in a 16-page paper, with seven columns to the page, excellently and freely illustrated in fine half-tone reproductions, and printed on a superior paper—a no mean competitor to the best illustrated English and American publications.

Get the first number, April 9th, if only to read "The Spell of the White Silence," by Robert W. Service, poet of the Yukon, author of "Songs of a Sourdough," and "Songs of a Cheekako." His first appearance in print as a writer of fiction. 17-b

zam-Buk In 3 Accidents.

It would seem that Zam-Buk, the famous healing balm we hear so highly spoken of everywhere, is particularly useful in the family circle. A report sent by Mrs. E. Davy, 786 Ellice Ave., Winnipeg, will illustrate this. She says: "My little boy, of three, while playing, fell from a high veranda to the ground, cutting his forehead badly. Instead of calling a doctor who would undoubtedly have put in a number of stitches, I bathed the wound well, and applied Zam-Buk. The little fellow, although suffering keenly, soon had relief from his pain. In the course of three weeks by applying Zam-Buk daily, the wound in his forehead was nicely healed."

"Since then I have also used Zam-Buk for a boil which came on my cheek and which proved very painful and looked unsightly. Zam-Buk soon drew the boil to a head and it then quickly banished it."

"Another time my baby was scalded on her left thigh and calf of leg with boiling water. This was a severe scald and the child suffered cruelly, screaming from pain. Directly it was done I thought to use Zam-Buk, as we had a box in the house, and spreading some on lint I wrapped up the baby's limb. Next morning she rested much easier and I applied a fresh bandage with Zam-Buk. I kept this treatment up daily and was rewarded by seeing a great improvement each time I dressed the wound. In a very short space of time the scalds were all nicely healed."

"I cannot recommend this wonderful healing preparation too highly for family use, and I have such great faith in its healing powers that my house is never without a box."

For all skin injuries and diseases, piles, eczema, salt rheum and face sores Zam-Buk is absolutely unequalled. 50c. box all druggists and stores.

Galvanized Rust-Proof— But Won't Scale

Extreme weather changes in Canada is the reason why so much Wire Fence rusts about 12 or 15 years sooner than it should.

Nearly every Wire Fence is Galvanized too thinly to fight off the result of these weather extremes.

Two-thirds of the life of a Wire Fence depends upon its Galvanizing. Yet, because Zinc costs four times more than steel Wire, much wire is wiped almost clean of its Galvanizing.

And, besides this, nearly all Wire is merely "coated" with Zinc. This "Coating" will peel off years before the Frost Fence begins to even show signs of wear.

You see, all Wire, because of its process of manufacture, has a greasy surface. This dirt and scale must be thoroughly removed before Galvanizing will stick.

You can't expect Zinc to adhere permanently to greasy, scaly Wire, can you?

But Frost Wire goes through three different "Pickling" and "Cleansing" processes before it ever sees a Galvanizing Furnace.

These three critical Cleansings clean the surface of Frost Wire as clean as a pin. This enables Frost Wire to be Double-Galvanized, without fear of peeling off.

When Frost

Wire goes through its double Galvanizing process, the Zinc not only spreads over the surface, but goes into the Wire, becoming a part of the Wire itself.

The Frost Fence will now endure those awful weather variations from 10 to 15 years longer than any other Fence made.

We are the only exclusive Fence makers in Canada who Make and Galvanize Wire. The Wire formerly used for the Frost Fence was made under our own specifications. It was the best we could buy.

But we knew that we could make better, so we built and equipped our own Mills. We are now making the best wire ever used for a Fence in Canada.

A Frost Fence will last from 10 to 15 years longer than any Fence we know of.

Write to-day for free booklet and samples.

"The Psychomantium"

The night was calm, and brightly shone the stars;
The stately moon sailed up the shining plain;
Across the waters flashed the light of mars,
And o'er caerulean fields, in sable train,
Flitted like Stygian souls the vapours thin.
In this deep solitude I wandered lone,
While down the distant hills with pensive din,
Blended with misty tides' eternal moan,
Came dreary winds across the heaving lake,
And intermingled, soared a strange, wild cry
Like naught e'er heard before—a sound which spake
To hills, to streams, to vales and clouds on high.
The ghostly cadences strangely rose and fell
Like a paen sung by souls in Stygian gloom,—
A mighty murmur like Hadria's swell
Was echoed by the winds burst from their tomb,—
Passions and fears, hatred and love confused,
Whose changeless chorus seemed that dreadful call
"De morte aeterna", as if spirits mused
In sad sepulchral tones 'neath cypress tall
Whose spectral shadow flaunts Avernian caves.
My troubled soul its refuge now 'gan search—
The distant shrine silent beside the waves.
I crossed the portals of the lonely church
On whose dark walls glimmered the moon's wan light,
While from the darkness gleamed the golden cross
And sadly strange played waves of silver bright
Around the Blessed Bambino, whose bosom
Reflected rays like that angelic smile
Congealed upon his countenance for aye.
That face, whose glories martyred saints beguile,
Flooded my dusty heart as chile as clay,
With tides of love for faint humanity,
And sweet compassion, strange before, sat there.
As on the pavement cold I bent the knee.
There seemed to come from afar, as in despair,
The mellifluous sound of chanting voices;
Mournfully wavered and rang their melody—
The ceaseless cry of a race which ne'er rejoices,
Infinite thousands of mortals wearily
Sending aloft a tale perpetual of pain—
"De morte aeterna," in low wailing sighs.
The sounding arches sighed with their refrain:
Without that murmur swept beyond the skies,
While darkness clouds obscured the orient moon
And darkness wrapt the church within her shades.
The wailing wind bemoaned as in a swoon,
Then died afar beyond the woody glades.
Anon the moon came forth from out her pall
To bathe in light the Blessed Bambino,
To shed her silver arrows on the wall,
Softly I rose and passed the portal low,
While yet behind me hollow echoes rung
And sacrilegiously the silence broke.
Down on the expanding shores the billows sung
A requiem for those 'neath Pluto's yoke,
And listless rolled the pebbles on the beach;
From down the distant hills of swaying pine
Floated the wind, hissing in sylvan speech
Mysterious thoughts, of origine divine.
The moonbeams played on the slowly moving tide
And lost themselves afar in meads of light;
In the music of the waves there seemed to glide
That same refrain with e'er increasing might—
"De morte aeterna," still the billows wailed.
The shining stars, the argent clouds up-caught,
And thus prolonged the dirge while yet they paled;
The heavenly lights hastening their way still sought
That rest which they alas seemed never to gain.
A yearning fierce, for immortality
Now smote my soul crying aloud in pain,
With wind and wave chanting incessantly
"De morte aeterna"—baleful words of woe.
Close by the sounding shores I sank in sleep
Such as pale Proserpina can bestow;
My soul seemed flowing forth in currents deep,
Mounting to upper realms of vital air;
At first in such unwonted freedom faint,
The spirit drank from boundless sources fair,
Unthought of ecstasies, free from earth's taint.
It flowed in union with mighty force,
Composed of lives long gone from earthly spheres,
Now moulded to a whole, the infinite source
Of every energy through countless years.
Now hopes which terrene life had laughed to scorn
Were gained in speechless bliss, and hopeless love
The heart dared not confess on earth, forlorn,
Long thirsted for, now satiate above.
The souls in secret loved and long admired,
Were now incorporate in one vast whole
Which sweetly life to all the world inspired.
At length my being had attained its goal,
Lost in apotheosis soared aloft,
All secret yearnings gained and satisfied.
Gently I awakened from my slumber soft;
The waters murmured at my feet and sighed.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Are Overcome By Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The kidneys have a very important work to perform in preserving health. All the blood passes through them over and over again and they filter it, removing all the impurities and worn-out muscle and tissue which the blood gathers up, in microscopic particles, in its flow through the body. These impurities are then expelled through the urinary system.

When the kidneys for any reason fail to perform this function, and the impurities are left in the blood, about the most distressing series of ailments which afflict mankind follow. First there is the aching back and a feeling of weariness, and then, as conditions grow worse, comes Rheumatism, Gravel, Diabetes, Gall Stones, Inflammation of the Bladder or the dreaded Bright's Disease.

The man or woman who allows kidney trouble to develop into any of these diseases is doing himself or herself a grave injustice, particularly when a cure can be had so readily. One of the constituents of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills is a Diuretic, which strengthens and stimulates the kidneys, enabling them to do their work thoroughly and with ease. These Pills also increase the action of the bowels and the pores of the skin, which remove some of the impurities, thus lightening the work of the kidneys.

Mr. Geo. Whitney, of Buffalo, N.Y., says they worked wonders for him. He writes:

"Your Doctor Morse's Indian Root Pills have worked wonders in my case. I suffered for six years from liver trouble and kidney ailment. If I tried one medicine I tried a dozen, but without good results. Your pills were recommended and they cured me after using four boxes."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills should be taken at the first sign of back-ache, of rheumatism, or of any difficulty in urinating.

SHE READ HIS SECRET.

Which Led Him to Express an Opinion on Married Life.

A young man from Kansas City was talking to a young woman from the same town whom he had met by accident at a matinee in New York. The young woman was married. The young man was not.

"You've heard that we're to have a new theater back home?" the woman asked to make conversation.

"Oh, of course," the young man answered. "I get all the news. I get a letter from Kansas City every day."

The woman began to laugh.

"So when you go back home for that vacation you're going to be married?" she mused.

"How did you know that?" the man cried. "We both said we wouldn't tell. And now she's—"

"You told me yourself a few seconds ago, everything but the date," she answered. "You see, no matter how fond your brother may be of you or your uncles or aunts or your mother or father, none of these would send you a letter every day. There's only one person who writes a letter every day, and that's the girl who's engaged to be married. For the rest of my sentence I added two and two."

"You're right," the man mused. "Say, a married man must have to play close to the bases. It must be like living with a mind reader."—Boston Herald.

After which an address was read by Miss Walroth, a music cabinet presented to Mrs. Spencer, and a fine rocker to Mr. Spencer, in appreciation of their many services to the Roblin Methodist church. Most suitable and excellent replies, with expressions of heart felt gratitude, etc., were made by both Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, followed by "God Be with you till we meet again," sung by all present. A farewell song, (words arranged by Miss Iva Horton), was then rendered by the members of the choir who were present, at the conclusion of which the party with regret finally dispersed.

EASTER SONG SERVICES.

The special Easter song services, which took place in Roblin Methodist Church, on the evening of Easter Sunday, was unanimously voted a decided success by the very large congregation in attendance. The floral decorations were appropriate and very prettily grouped in pleasing effect. The choral work directed by Miss Iva Horton will be long remembered. An Easter carol, by a full well-balanced choir, opened the service, other excellent features being the chanting of the Lord's prayer, sweetly and softly by the choir, at conclusion of first prayer: an Easter motion song by little girls in white frocks adorned with lilies, which was beautifully rendered; two difficult Easter anthems splendidly sung by choir, the solo obligatos being rendered by Miss Iva Horton and Miss Richmond: a very fine Ladies' quartette by Miss I. Horton, Mrs. Rev. Horton, Miss I. Hall and Mrs. W. H. Richardson; a mixed quartet (accompanied by Miss Grace Richardson) sung with splendid feeling and beautiful expression by Misses Iva Horton and Pearl Spencer, Messrs. J. Hughes and W. H. Richardson, Miss Horton singing the verses as solos; Scripture readings and appropriate sermon by the pastor, Rev. G. Horton. Service closed with Easter hymn, "Christ, the Lord, Is Risen To-day", followed by benediction, and another beautiful charet by the choir, while congregation remained standing, thus concluding an evening of much pleasure and profit.

STOMACH INDIGESTION.

Per-una Strikes at the Root of the Trouble.

MR. S. J. MASSEY.

Mr. S. J. Massey, formerly a resident of Toronto, and a well-known business man, writes from 217 Guy street, Montreal, Quebec:

"I wish to testify to the good results I have derived from the use of Peruna."

"Having been troubled for several years with catarrh of the head, I decided to give Peruna a fair trial and I can truly say I have received great benefit from its use. It evidently strikes at the very root of the trouble and good results are soon noticeable."

"I have also found Peruna a very valuable remedy for stomach trouble and indigestion."

"I have no hesitancy whatever in recommending Peruna as a reliable catarrh remedy."

There are several kinds of indigestion.

The trouble may be due to sluggishness of the liver, derangements of the bowels, enlargement of the pancreas, or it may be due to the stomach itself.

In nearly all cases of stomach indigestion catarrh of the stomach is the cause. The only permanent relief is to remove the catarrh.

Peruna has become well-known the world over as a remedy in such cases.

A Story of Charles Reade.

Charles Mathews was fond of telling a story of Charles Reade when the curtain fell at the old Queen's theater in London on a pronounced failure called "A White Lie." There was no shadow of a call for the author. The curtain divided the audience from the author, who stood on the stage shaking his fist at the invisible foe, still smiling blandly and in mellifluous accents saying: "Infernal idiots! When shall I teach you to respect Charles Reade?"

The Better Part.

Mr. McNabber, says the London Mail, had just told his pastor that he was planning a trip to the Holy Land. "And whies I'm there," he continued, "I'll read the Ten Commandments aloud frae the top o' Mount Sinai." "McNabber," replied the minister gravely, "tak my advice. Bide at hame an' keep them."

ANNOUNCEMENT

TO-DAY, for the first time here, the new medicinal preparation—"ASAYA-NEURALL"—is offered for sale, and may be obtained from the undersigned.

"ASAYA-NEURALL" represents the latest conclusions of medical research in the effort to supply the nervous organization of the body with the elements required to restore normal nervous health, in a form capable of being assimilated by the weakest digestive organs.

As is well known, every effort of the mind and every movement of a muscle uses up a part of the tissues of the nervous system, the waste products of which have been found by chemical examination of the excretions to consist largely of mineral phosphates.

In health, when the nervous forces are not over-exerted, certain foods, such as fish, eggs, milk, etc., supply sufficient of the phosphatic principle to restore this loss.

But when a person, young or old, through over-work, worry, intense excitement, grief, alcoholic or other excesses, over-exerts the nerve powers, accelerating the using up of nerve tissue and the consequent loss of the phosphatic principle past the power of recuperation by the ordinary channels of the food, the condition of nervous exhaustion results.

These facts have long been known, and physicians have for years endeavored to aid the system to regain its normal supply of the vital phosphatic element by the giving of phosphorus compounds of many kinds.

The preparation—"ASAYA-NEURALL"—may be described briefly, as the latest advance in the art of phosphatic medication, suitably prepared for general public use. In it phosphorus is supplied in practically the same form as it exists in the human system, thus enabling this nerve building element to be easily assimilated even by those whose digestive powers have been so weakened by disease as to make it impossible for them to retain and assimilate phosphorus preparations of any other kind. It is a safe, home remedy, immeasurably superior to any previous compound for similar purposes, and should be taken by persons suffering from

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION NERVOUS DEBILITY

NERVOUS PROSTRATION HYSTERIA INSOMNIA

For the nervous despondency frequently experienced by women when recovering from child-birth and for all conditions of nervous derangement resulting from the causes named above.

"ASAYA-NEURALL" checks the night sweats due to extreme nervous debility, and, under the physician's direction, will be found of great service as a reconstructive tonic in the treatment of wasting and debilitating diseases, especially Consumption, where it is of prime importance to maintain the nervous strength, and during the convalescence from acute diseases, such as Pneumonia, La Grippe, etc.

FREE TRIAL SAMPLE OFFERED.—BENEFICIAL EFFECTS ALMOST IMMEDIATELY EVIDENT.

The first effect of this preparation is the lifting of the feeling of depression and the awakening to a more lively interest in things about us. Ability to sleep returns, the digestive powers are roused, the appetite improves, and a general feeling of rejuvenation and renewal of energy is felt. The beneficial effects are evident almost at the first dose. Not due, however, to false stimulation, as in alcoholic preparations, but to real feeding of the under-nourished nerve tissues, while the time to stop taking this preparation is as evident as is the time to stop at meal time, that is, when the nerves have been fed until their normal condition returns and a buoyant feeling of nervous health replaces the depression previously experienced.

SPECIAL NOTICE. Any adult person may, within ten days from the date when this notice appears, obtain a liberal sized free sample bottle of "ASAYA-NEURALL," quite sufficient to definitely establish the value of this preparation in their case, by filling in the coupon below and presenting same to the undersigned.

"ASAYA-NEURALL" is regularly sold in large bottles at $1.50 each. One bottle, taken three times a day according to directions, affords treatment for about forty days, all that is usually required for ordinary derangements of the nervous system.

"ASAYA-NEURALL" is prepared solely by the DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Manufacturing Chemists, of New York, Montreal and Shanghai, and may be obtained locally from

In a recent number of a medical journal a physician writes: "As offending scents may set in motion a train of morbid digestive symptoms, so, on the contrary, those that are sweet and agreeable may exercise a highly beneficial effect. The orientals appreciate the delightfully soothing influence of pleasing perfumes, having developed the faculty of deriving the most enjoyment from inhaling fragrant odors."

This is only one of recent indications that scientists are awakening to something of the importance of investigating the sense of smell and the relation of odors to human life. It is a fact that less is known of the sense of smell than about any of the other senses. It exists as a survivor of something which, undoubtedly, was much keener and better developed than at the present time. In the evolution of man the necessity of the sense decreased, while with animals it remained unimpaired. Yet investigation has proved that many things have odors which the untrained sense cannot distinguish. Not only has each race its peculiar odor, undistinguishable except to members of another race, but it is asserted that each person has an individual scent which dogs and other animals can instantly detect and remember for an indefinite period. The Caucasian knows the emanations from other races, but comparatively few white men realize that they have an odor which is distinctly disagreeable to negroes, Japanese, etc.

But if we are to believe certain writers, personal scents do not stop at individuals, but the white race, at least, has an odor which changes with the moods and emotions, and that these scents are different in blondes than they are in brunettes. It is likewise asserted that there is an odor of poverty and an odor of crime. That cities have distinct odors is stoutly maintained by mariners, who say they are able, miles out at sea, to scent a town like Singapore, Canton, or Panama. Pseudo scientific articles have been written on the morality of perfumes, or seeking to connect them by analogy with musical notes or colors. How much of this is fact and how much is susceptible of proof remains for the scientists, but it is undoubtedly true that odors play a more subtle part in the pleasure or the discomfort of human life than we generally suspect.

A REASONABLE RELIGION

No Man Will Find the Way of Life by Playing the Hypocrite With His Own Mind.

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy mind."—Mark xii 30.

Is there any rational way of fostering and giving expression to the religious life? The question may well be answered by another: Can any form of life be religious which does not arise in reason and command itself as rational? What right have we to trust our emotions, our sentiments, or hopes, except as they are indorsed and sustained by the divine faculty by which we have so far found our way in life?

That church which is only an asylum for minds that faint whenever they are compelled to work often lifts itself with spiritual pride over those who humbly seek to discover truth for themselves. It derides those who reverence the truth so deeply they dare not trust any empty form or pretense, and who, with pain and sincerity, are seeking its path.

Many persons continue to think of the Almighty as one who endows human beings with reason and then inflicts on them religion so as to make sure of a perpetual conflict in their natures. They tell us that these two are contradictory, that you can only become religious as you are willing to deny the authority and validity of intelligence. This is a crooked world if such a contention be valid; it means that you can only know that you are right to know anything at all, that the infinite has given to man a mind with which to damn him, but that he may be saved by undoing or ignoring his Creator's work. It is a theory, however, especially favored by those who seek escape from the labor of thinking it out.

The highest form of worship, without doubt the most sincere and devout, is that which seeks by the light we have to find the further light, which loves truth so well it will not go a step without her, which seeks to pierce through forms of words and through the garments of tradition in which time has wrapped the word of life and discover the writing of the infinite for themselves.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

INTERNATIONAL LESSON,
APRIL 17.

The Question of John the Baptist,
Matt. 11. 1-19. Golden Text,
John 5. 36.

Verse 1. This verse belongs not with what follows, but with the preceding chapter from which our lesson for last Sunday was taken.

2. When John heard in the prison—Besides being a fortress, it had served as a palatial residence first

It were better to be cast out of this universe as a rebel than to find the best place in a paradise of fools knowing that we had been recreant to truth, disloyal to our own wisdom, purchasing such a heaven by cowardly submission to that which at least seemed to us a lie.

To be loyal to truth is the first step in religion, to follow the light we have the primary condition of more light. Tirades as to any conflict between reason and revelation are the vapors of minds that dare not trust the truth, that will not begin the labor of following the light, seeking to show their faith in God by fearing to look at his ways.

Even though all forms should perish, though all our present notions should need revision, though all history must be rewritten, a voice within the true man still forbids to do other than follow the truth.

HE CAN DO NO OTHER.

This is religion to him, as to all high souls, to be loyal at any cost to the light we have.

Thousands are perplexed right here, and for them all there is nothing to do but just this simple thing—to turn the back on those blind guides who tell us that a bandage about the eyes is the garment essential to spiritual worship, and then to step out boldly, trusting that the light we have will lead to fullness of light.

Here is the sublime act of faith, not blindly to fling away reason, but to believe that this little light, this little piece of way we can see, so small and insignificant after all, is the right way; it has been given to us and we must trust it, to know that this is a right world where truth divine and truth human are in perfect harmony.

Nowhere does a man more truly worship the whole of truth than as he clings to the fragment that is in him. Nowhere does he trust the infinite more sublimely than when he stands on this confidence that the little light he has from heaven is better than all the dim lamps that other hands may fashion, and by that light he will walk his way.

HENRY F. COPT.

remember that he is more than a prophet. Not only did his prophetic teachings approximate most closely those of Jesus, but he was the forerunner of Jesus, and his baptizer.

There hath not arisen a greater—Jesus did not overlook the limitations of John, but, in saying he that is but little in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he, he showed that the greatness of John belonged to an epoch of preparation, and hence outside the realized kingdom of heaven. To be one of slight importance in this kingdom was to exceed in greatness the greatest of the old order.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

"So you won't have me!" The laughing-eyed girl looked up into the man's inflamed face and snapped her fingers.

"Where I wed I must love!" she declared. "Just at present I'm not marrying, anyway. Thanks to the shop, I can rub along very well. I don't like you, Samuel Garrett, Esq., and never should. Apart from a bit in the bank, you have little else to your credit; and that's straight talk. Even now you smell of liquor. Good-day! I'm busy."

She took a file of bills from the wall as she ended, and calmly proceeded to enter them in the open book before her. The big, coarse-featured man stood in the doorway of the little glass-partitioned office, glaring at her as if stunned.

For some months this good-looking girl had appealed to him as eminently desirable for a wife. In looks and figure she was "just his mark," as he phrased it. Business association had convinced him that she was very wide awake. He had known her father, and when, at the old man's death, he learned that she had determined to keep the old sign up over the shop he had confidently declared that she would make good, and, in his capacity as wholesaler, had not hesitated to trust her.

He had met her often, and with each meeting his resolve to make her his wife had strengthened. So far in his experience, what he had wanted he had generally got. He was that kind of man. No suspicion that she would refuse him had for a moment entered his mind. Prosperous, able to place her in an enviable position, he had imagined that he had but to ask to be accepted. Her scornful rejection, bit into his consciousness, and filled him with insensate fury.

"You hussy!" he rapped out coarsely. "I'll have you, for all your airs!"

She turned and looked him up and down complacently.

"I'll settle up with you," she said. "We'll try and do without you."

He struck the desk with his clenched hand, upsetting the counted piles of silver.

"Great Scott! I'll make you glad to crawl to me!" he cried, purple-faced.

"Forty-one pounds ten," she remarked, as she found her cheque-book. "Kinkly receipt the statement."

Provoked to blind rage by her indifference, he leered in her face.

"You hear?" he raved. "I'll make you glad to crawl to me!"

She proceeded calmly to fill in the cheque. When she looked up he had gone.

"What a brute!" she said, smiling. "Fancy being tied for life to that!"

She placed the cheque with the statement in an envelope, and addressed it.

"John!" she called through the trap to one of her shopmen. "Just go and post this letter."

Nations cannot be indicted. Can the college men of any nation be indicted wholesale? It appears that a report based on wide data is shortly to be submitted in which college men will be charged with lawlessness, indifference to the moral code and other painful shortcomings. Even college presidents are not to "scape whipping." They, it seems, are not always willing to enforce the law against rich and influential students.

The report will make interesting reading, but will it contain any surprises for the student of philosophy, ethics and harmonious education? Is it not a truth iterated and reiterated by all the great thinkers, from Plato down to Bacon, an Spencer, that mere "education," or education of the intellect, does not make for morality? The intellect, as Spencer says, supplies tools, but does not determine conduct. It guides us to the ends we would realize, but it does not control the moral quality of those ends. It gives efficiency, but to rascals as well as to noble and upright citizens.

The building of character, the education of the emotions and the will, moral culture will never take care of itself. It is not a by-product of scientific training. Educated men will not commit the same class-crimes as the uneducated, but if they have not been subjected to right moral influences in the home, in school and college, in their general social environment, they will not resist temptation any more than the illiterates. So profoundly true is this that it accounts for the recent movement in favor of definite religious and moral training in school and college.

WHEN HE HAD FINISHED.

A well-known barrister relates the following story with great gusto.

Some time ago he had under cross-examination a youth who related in the name of Sampson, and whose replies were provocative of much laughter in court.

And so, questioned the barrister, "you wish the Court to believe that you are peacefully disposed and of an offensive kind of person?"

Yes.

And that you have no desire to do away with the existence of your illustrious name-sake and imitate the Philistines?

No, I've not, answered the witness. "And if I had the desire, I am not got the power at present."

"Then you think you would be able to come successfully with a thousand enemies, and utterly rout them with the pawbone of an ass?"

Well, answered the ruffled Scapito, I might have a try, but you are some with the wear-

Verse 1. This verse belongs not with what follows, but with the preceding chapter from which our lesson for last Sunday was taken.

2. When John heard in the prison—Besides being a fortress, it had served as a palatial residence, first to Herod the Great, then to the present Herod, Antipas. The apparently free access of the disciples to their leader indicates some indulgence in the tetrarch's treatment of John. His disciples proved their loyalty in many ways (compare Matt. 9, 14 and Mark 6, 29). We can imagine with what eagerness he received their tidings of the universally discussed works of the Christ.

3. Art thou he that cometh?—A question asked in the true spirit of the Hebrew prophets. Some have attributed it to the despair naturally arising from the long imprisonment. But this is to overlook the heroic mold in which the Baptist was cast. His difficulty was, not that he had formed an imperfect conception of the Messiah. He was not one of those who looked for regal splendors and conquests. But he did look for the "ax" and the "fan" of the reformer (Matt. 3, 10 and 12), and the sacrificial acts of the "Lamb of God" (John 1). The acts of which report was brought to him, on the other hand, were performed at the height of the popularity of Jesus, and bore no marks of a reformer or a suffering Messiah. His question, therefore, was not equivalent to a denial, but one of impatience. He wanted to have all uncertainties settled as to whether his work had been for nothing, and they were to look for another, or whether this was actually the Messiah of whom the prophets had spoken.

4. Jesus answered—Reference to passages like Isa. 55, 5, and 61, 1, will convince anyone that, though Jesus did not say directly, "I am the Messiah," John would be satisfied with the truly Messianic character of the works.

The things which ye see and hear—It is to be remembered that these disciples broke in upon Jesus while he was engaged in this very kind of work (compare Luke 7, 21).

5. The dead are raised up—Luke places these events directly after the restoration of the son of the widow of Nain.

The poor have good things preached to them—In the synagogue at Nazareth Jesus had mentioned this as the first of his ministries as Messiah.

6. Blessed is he—Happiness lies with those who have no uncertainties as to Christ's Kingship, stand in the way of fullest allegiance to him.

7-11. Concerning John—The question sent by John would no doubt set the tongues of the multitude wagging. They would say the restraint and hardship of the prison life had worn down his spirit. But Jesus shows the injustices of such thoughts by recalling to them the kind of man they had gone out into the wilderness to see and hear. Surely, he was no vacillating reed shaken with the wind, then. As for cowardice, look for that in kings' houses (Machaerus, for example), but not in him who was clothed in the rough raiment of camel's hair. And, if you are questioning as to whether John is worthy to be classed as a prophet, ven is greater than he, he showed that the greatness of John belonged to an epoch of preparation, and hence outside the realized kingdom of heaven. To be one of slight importance in this kingdom was to exceed in greatness the greatest of the old order.

12. This is open to various interpretations. It may mean that, not men who entertain uncertainties about his Messiahship, but men of forceful conviction, who storm the gates of the kingdom like an army besieging a city, are the ones who, from the days of John the Baptist, and always, will take it.

13. Luke reverses the order of these two verses (Luke 16, 16), and makes it clear that Jesus means to say that before John all was prophecy of the kingdom, and John preached it as a present reality, no longer to be prophesied, but to be entered by violence.

14. This is Elijah—Jesus followed the prophecy of Mal. 4, 5, and insisted that John was the Elijah of Jewish expectation. Apparently, they were not willing to accept that as true, their reason being that they expected Elijah personally to return (Matt. 17, 10). But if their hearts were prepared for such spiritual truth, then they would hear and believe.

15-19. This generation—Jesus compares them to children playing at weddings and funerals, in the market places, and quarreling over their games. It was with as little earnestness as this that the Pharisees accepted their religious obligations, and complained of those who would be their leaders. John's severe hermit life they condemned as an evidence of demon-possession. Then, when Jesus adapted himself to the more joyous experiences of the crowd, they swung to their other extreme and condemned him as gluttonous.

Wisdom is justified by her works—This is the practical test to which Jesus had put his Messianic claims, in the message to John. As he said to Philip on one occasion, "Believe me for the very works' sake." Whatever this perverse generation thought, both John and Jesus were vindicated by results.

A POWERFUL WEAPON.

They were examining an old-fashioned shotgun of murderous build. It looked as if it would be an effective weapon against anything short of an elephant, and its owner was boasting, with that scorn of fact which is allowed the successful hunter, of its power.

"Doesn't it kick like anything?" asked one.

"Oh, yes, it kicks some," said the proprietor, "but that's the beauty of it. Why, once I shot at a grizzly that was charging me. I missed him, and on he came. If it had not been that the gun kicked me so far back that I had time to reload, I shouldn't have been here to tell the story."

A NATURAL INCLINATION.

"Say, old chap, lend me $10."

"My dear young friend, don't you know that this eagerness for money is very bad—that money is nothing, after all, but trouble?"

"Yes, I know, but then it's my disposition to be borrowing trouble."

She placed the cheque with the statement in an envelope, and addressed it.

"John," she called through the trap to one of her shopmen. "Just go and post this letter."

Along the whole length of the busy, brilliantly lighted High Street no patch showed brighter than that where for forty years the sign, "John Short, Fruiterer, Poulterer and Fishmonger" had been displayed on the fascia above the well-stocked shop.

When Samuel Garrett, in his black rage, threw out his threat to the good-looking and business-like little woman who owned the shop the High Street was a very prosperous quarter.

At twenty-seven, Mary Short was still waiting the word of the man who had long since won her love, and who, for reasons which seemed good to him, although foolish to her, remained a backward swain. Tom Long had been her father's right hand, valued for his qualities as a salesman, esteemed for his integrity and high principles. In the days of budding womanhood, Mary had learned to like Tom for his worth, and for him there had never been any other girl. No other could compare with Mary. Because he regarded her as above him, however, he had not dared to tell her of his love. Ambitious, and of a praiseworthy independence, he had determined that first he would make success. One day he quite intended, if she would take him, to marry her; but before that day he meant to reach her level in position and prosperity.

Fired with this purpose, he had left the old man's service, and had opened a shop for himself in another quarter. The fight had been uphill, but she was winning through. The hope of years was coming closer to realization with every week of strenuous endeavor.

Assured of Tom's love, owing a flourishing business, she could afford to laugh at the threat of Garrett. So, at least, she thought. Some few days after his visit, however, she was sitting in the little office when she observed that workmen were busy in a shop immediately facing her on the other side of the street. This shop had been vacant for some months, and natural curiosity urged her to make inquiries as to the incoming tenant, and the nature of the proposed business. Nobody appeared to know.

Behind the whitened windows a little army of fitters labored, at pressure, all that and the succeeding two days, to convert the interior to suit its new purpose. Rows of gasjets were fixed along the frontage. A giant framework, dotted with hooks, was run up to the side wall, and with its rising the secret was out. Mary knew that the opening of the shop meant competition. Somebody intended to share the trade.

She was not unduly perturbed at the knowledge. Where others in the immediate neighborhood at times had tried and failed this man was hardly likely to succeed. She flattered herself that it would not be long before the shop was again to let. That night she slept none the worse, and, with the morning, rose smiling and bright as usual. When she drew up the blind, however, the smile died out of her face, and for some minutes she stood staring. On the windows of the op-

Opens here next Saturday, ready to supply Fruit, Vegetables, Fish, Poultry, and Rabbits of the best.

Everybody who spends a bob gets a rabbit free! Come in your thousands!"

Tom Long walked from the bay-window of the sitting-room above the shop to the side of the little woman who was bending forward in a low chair and gazing fixedly at the fire.

"It's a crying shame, Mary!" he declared. "The fellow ought to be hanged! And I'd like to do it!" "Oh, he has me right enough!" she said bitterly. "There's no fighting that sort of thing. When he started that first Saturday I never thought he would keep it up. Everything he sold was under cost, and rabbits showered out to the crowd in hundreds. They simply swarmed about the shop like flies, fighting to get served. My takings dropped to next to nothing. I wouldn't meet it. I had sense enough to see that fighting on his lines meant rushing wilfully into bankruptcy; and he's kept it up, with underselling, and some new dodge, ever since. It certainly means shutting up the shop for me, anyway."

"What's his object?" cried Tom. "The man's throwing his money away recklessly. He knows how you're placed. He knows you're a woman. Why should he want to bring ruin to you?"

"He wished to marry me, and I sent him packing," she confessed. "He threatened to make me glad to crawl to him. Now you know."

Tom stared at her for some seconds as if dazed; then he slowly advanced, and put his hand gently on her shoulder. When she looked up at him he saw that her eyes were glistening.

"That's all right, Mary!" he whispered huskily. "It's all right, anyhow. But we've got to try and get level with Garrott. He mustn't shut you up. I don't quite see how it's to be done; the beggar's got so much, he can afford to chuck away. The thing wants quietly thinking about. Just go on, and keep a brave face. If there's a way to stop it, we'll find it."

That night Tom did quite a lot of thinking. For hours he puzzled in vain; but, unexpectedly, an idea, which suggested a possible chance of averting the calamity, shot into his brain. The hope it promised was faint enough, in all truth, but before he slept he had resolved to put it to the test.

Next morning he was out betimes, eager, if not very sanguine.

The maid who took his name at the great house in the aristocratic district of the town doubted as to whether her master would see him. Tom pleaded very urgent business, and the worthy gentleman, who was engaged at breakfast, condescended to receive him.

"I understand that you are the owner of a certain shop in High Street, now in the possession of S. Garrott?" said Tom, getting to business without delay. The gentleman admitted the fact. "Would you mind telling me whether he holds it on the usual tenancy?" asked Tom.

"He does not," returned the gen-

SOME DAINTY DISHES.

Bird's Nest.—Make a dough for baking powder biscuit, roll half of it thin, spread with melted butter, sugar, and cinnamon, then cover with the other half. They open easily and are nice for a change.

Browned Potatoes.—When the meat is roasting, and an hour before it is to be served, boil the potatoes in their "jackets." Take off the skins, roll in flour, and place under the meat, taking care to make them brown nicely. Serve after drying a few moments in front of the fire.

Appelene.—Is a very delicious preserve for serving with a rice mould. Peel three or four apples, mix them with sufficient sugar to taste, add a little water and the grated rind of a lemon. Stew in a china-lined pan till soft, then allow to grow cold before serving.

Curried eggs prepared as follows make a delicious dish: Bring one pint of milk to the boil and thicken it with a dessertspoonful of curry powder and the same quantity of flour, worked to a smooth paste in a little milk. When the mixture is of the consistency of cream, poach in it, one at a time, a sufficient number of eggs. As cooked, transfer carefully to squares of buttered toast arranged on a hot plate. Pour the sauce round the toast and serve.

Tasty fried bacon and cabbage makes a good supper or dinner dish. First boil some nice cabbage, drain very dry, and chop. Fry some rashers of bacon and put on a hot dish. Place the chopped cabbage in the frying-pan, fry it in the bacon fat, and place round the rashers. Pour about a tablespoonful of vinegar into the pan, give it a good boil up, then pour over the bacon.

Vegetarian Roast Goose.—Pare and cut in two lengthwise a good sized vegetable marrow and remove the seeds. Rub this over inside and out with salt and leave for an hour to drain. Have ready some onions boiled and chopped with a little sage, add to them pepper, salt, and a little butter, and fill up the halves of the marrow with the mixture. Close up and tie over with tape. Butter a pie-dish, place the goose upon it, and bake in a moderate oven till it is browned and tender. Serve with a little white sauce.

Dripping cakes are very nice for tea, especially when there is a need of saving cooking butter. Put the dripping into a large basin and cover it with boiling water the day before you wish to make your cakes. Take the clarified dripping and scrape off any sediment. Place half a pound of flour in a basin, work into it three ounces of dripping, half a pound of mashed potatoes, two ounces of sugar, and two ounces of currants. Add a teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Moisten with milk to make a stiff dough and bake in a moderate oven.

Cottage Cheese.—In the winter sour milk is not always to be had, as milk will not thicken as quickly as in summer. Buttermilk will make just as nice cheese. Put in a jar set on back of stove to heat slowly. When entirely separated cupful of butter, creamed; two cupfuls of flour, one-half cupful of sweet milk, one large teaspoonful of baking powder; lastly the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Dark part: One cupful of brown sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one-half cupful of cooking molasses, one-half cupful of buttermilk or sour milk, two cupfuls of flour, cinnamon, allspice, and cloves to taste, beaten yolks of three eggs, one cupful of nut meats chopped, one cupful of raisins chopped, heaping tablespoonful of chocolate, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water. Makes two layers each of white and dark parts. Put together with nut filling.

Cake Making.—The secret of successful cakes is in the beating. Cake should not be stirred round and round in the bowl, but lifted up so that the air can get into it. A wooden fork or strong wire beater is better to use for this purpose than a paddle or spoon of any kind. First beat the butter to a cream, then add the sugar, a little at a time, beat until smooth, then the milk, a little at a time, beating all the while; next the flour and beaten eggs, a small quantity of each at a time, reserving a small quantity of flour to mix with the baking powder, or cream tartar, to be added the last thing. Bake in an oven that is not too hot at first. Cake rises better in a cool oven and is not so likely to fall.

Small Cakes.—One-half cupful of butter, one and a half cupfuls of granulated sugar, four eggs, one-half cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour, one cupful of citron, cut in fine pieces, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Cream the butter and add the sugar gradually, then the eggs, well beaten, reserving the whites of two for the icing. Add the milk, one-half at a time, then the flour, sifted with the baking powder. Stir in the citron well floured. Bake in layers in a moderate oven about one-half hour. Cut in square pieces and cover with white icing, placing English walnut halves in rows on the icing while soft.

USEFUL HINTS.

To cool a hot dish in a hurry, place it in a vessel of cold salt-water.

The moment you are instinctively prompted to rub your eyes that moment stop using them.

A good way to tell when ham is fried enough is by the fat. When the fat is brown (not burnt) the ham is done.

If mixed with milk instead of water mustard will not get dry, but will keep nice and fresh until it is all used up.

A little vinegar put in the water in which eggs are poached will keep them white and prevent them from spreading.

If you want to keep lemons, string them with a packing-needle and hang them in a dry place, but do not let them touch each other.

When using valuable vases for table decorations fill them with sand, for this makes them stand firmly, and renders them far less liable to be knocked over and broken.

When running brass rods through window curtains put an old glove finger over the end that is being pushed through the hem. Unless this is done the material is apt to tear.

owner of a certain shop in High Street, now in the possession of S. Garrott!" said Tom, getting to business without delay. The gentleman admitted the fact. "Would your mind telling me whether he holds it on the usual tenancy?" asked Tom.

"He does not," returned the gentleman. "He insisted, for some reason best known to himself, on a monthly tenancy. As the place had been vacant for some time, I let him have it."

"Thank you!" said Tom. "I can tell you the reason."

And, briefly, though forcibly, he explained the doings of Mr. Garrott, and his avowed object. The old gentleman was sensibly moved by the recital.

"I have a proposal to make," continued Tom. "Will you grant me a lease of the premises for the remainder of the year? I will not quibble about the price."

The subsequent conversation was strictly business, but it was noticeable that when Tom left the house he was laughing.

Two days later the Profit Smasher was thrown into a frenzy of passion by the receipt of a month's notice to quit. When he called on the old gentleman he was curtly referred to the new tenant. Tom received him with a smile, and, at his abuse, told him quietly that he was not on this occasion dealing with a woman. Mr. Garrott departed, at the stern request of a policeman, vowing dire vengeance.

The rest of the story is soon told. Some trouble was experienced in the ejection, and no little excitement. At the sale Tom acquired the fittings and fixtures very reasonably. The following day the shop was again open, "under new management."

Between Short's and Long's has existed for some months a healthy rivalry. The notoriety given to the shop by the big Profit Smasher still clings to it, and people still swarm to the district to do their marketing. Although the crowds do not now get something for nothing, they are attracted by the certainty that competition means cheapness.

Every Saturday night you will see Short and Long selling against each other in hammer-and-tongs style, and both do a roaring trade. The two proprietors are apparently the keenest of rivals.

But comparatively few are aware that Short is Long.—London Answers.

GIVE IT A THOUGHT.

How little it costs if we give it a thought
To make happy some heart each day!
Just one kind word or a tender smile,
As we go on our daily way.
Perchance a look will suffice to clear
The cloud from a neighbor's face,
And the press of a hand in sympathy,
A sorrowful tear efface.

One walks in sunlight, another goes
All weary in the shade;
One treads a path that is fair and smooth;
Another must pray for aid.
It costs so little! I wonder why
We give it so little thought?
A smile—kind words—a glance—a touch,
And what magic may be wrought!

CAKES.

Prince of Wales Cake. — White part: Cupful of sugar, one-half a stiff dough and bake in a moderate oven.

Cottage Cheese.—In the winter sour milk is not always to be had, as milk will not thicken as quickly as in summer. Buttermilk will make just as nice cheese. Put in a jar set on back of stove to heat slowly. When entirely separated pour off whey, tie in thin cloth to drain for four or five hours, then salt and mix with sweet cream or rich milk. Made into small, round patties, a bit of whipped cream on top of each patty and garnished with parsley makes a delicious dish for a "luncheon."

Oysters and Mushrooms.—A quart of best oysters, half a can of mushrooms, a heaping tablespoonful of butter, pepper, salt, and cracker crumbs, a cupful of milk, one beaten egg. Lay a startum of oysters in a buttered bake dish, season with pepper and salt, sprinkle with chopped mushrooms, cover with milk, dotted with butter. The top layer should be moist with milk in which an egg has been beaten. Season with pepper, salt, and butter. Bake, covered, thirty minutes, then brown. Pass crackers and lemon with it in service.

APPLE DISHES.

Apple Chutney.—Twelve sour apples, one mild onion, three peppers (one red), one cup of chopped raisins, one pint of cider vinegar, one-half cup of currant jelly, two cups of sugar, the juice of four lemons, one tablespoonful each of ground ginger and salt (level), one-fourth teaspoonful cayenne. Chop apples, onion, and peppers very fine; add vinegar and jelly and let simmer one hour; add other ingredients and cook another hour. Store as canned fruit. Delicious.

Apple Pudding.—Pare and quarter enough apples to cover your granite pudding pan (grease it with butter first) or any kind of fruit, but try the apples first. Then take one tablespoonful of butter, one-half cupful of white sugar or brown, one-half cupful of water, one cupful of flour, one egg (or two is better if cheaper), one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix all and pour over the apples and bake. Use milk, cream or whipped cream.

Creamed Apples.—Pare the apples in halves, taking off peelings, core, fill the apple with sugar, bake slowly in oven until soft without falling apart. Test with toothpick. Allow to cool. Place on individual plates, cover with whipped cream, then sift over all chopped nuts. This makes a very delicious dessert and is inexpensive.

Farmhouse Apples.—Peel and core tart apples, fill the centers with seeded raisins, chopped citron, a little lemon peel, and sugar. Place them in a baking pan and pour over them one-half cupful of water. Dust the apples with sugar and bake them in a slow oven until they are tender. Sprinkle with bread crumbs on top, dust again with sugar, and allow them to remain in the oven ten minutes. Mix one tablespoonful of flour with one-half cupful of sugar and add gradually two cupfuls of boiling water and boil one minute. Take from the fire and pour slowly over them one well beaten egg; add the juice of one-half lemon and pour over the apples. Serve hot.

When lace curtains are to be washed baste a narrow strip of muslin along each outer edge, and let it remain until the washing and drying process is completed, and you will find your curtains straight and they will not sag.

If night lights are burned in the nursery and you run short of them, try this alternative: Take a wax candle, cover the top, which has been burned level, with a thin layer of salt, and leave only the blackened end of the wick exposed. Light the candle, and it will give a faint but steady light all night.

JEWELS OF AN EMPRESS.

German Papers Make Capital Out of Display.

Socialist journals in South Germany have seized on particulars of the jewels worn by the German Empress at the Court festivities to criticize what they are pleased to term the appalling extravagance revealed by the "mother of the nation" in this respect.

At the most important Court balls and banquets the Empress wore jewels to the value of $1,250,000. These included a large diamond tiara, a necklace of pearls and diamonds, several diamond bracelets, diamond rings on all fingers, a diamond chain wound round the waist, and the train of the dress was decked with wonderful precious stones. A few superfluous stones were affixed to the imperial fan.

During the Court functions two pages are entrusted with the duty of watching the Empress incessantly, to make sure that none of her precious stones fall off.

Most of the jewelry is not the Empress' private property, but the property of the Prussian Crown, and descends from Empress to Empress. The Empress' own jewelry is worth less than that of many middle-class ladies.

At the conclusion of each Court festivity the crown jewels are replaced in a fireproof safe, where they are carefully guarded day and night. None but ladies-in-waiting (all of high birth) are allowed to deck the Empress with her jewels and to remove them afterwards.

BARBERISM IN CHINA.

Lack of Antiseptic Measures Often Result in Blindness.

It is the custom for a Chinaman to visit the barber every week to have a general overhauling, says the Medical Record. First, the head and face are shaved; second, the ears are scraped and cleansed with a small brush made of duck's hair; third, the upper and lower eyelids are scraped with a dull-edged knife, all granulations being smoothed away, and then an application is made with a duck's hair brush of salt solution.

This is the reason why you will find so much blindness in China. They take no antiseptic measures whatever.

Finally the patient's back is massaged, and after paying a fee of three cents and no tips, he leaves the shop, feeling clean outside, but now must consult his regular physician.

After going through the usual examination, which is a form of military inspection, the doctor diagnoses the case and treats it, unless a devil happens to jump down the patient's throat. If this has happened the doctor can do the patient no good until he promises to set off 100 firecrackers, and to make a daily visit to joss house. This done, he receives the usual pills for those vacated by the devil.

These pills may consist of spotted rhinoceros horns, said to be a wonderful cure for intestinal troubles. The spotted rhinoceros horns come from southern China, and in the market at Singapore a single specimen will bring $25.

emphasized. In 1911, for example, the programme calls for more than $65,000,000. In the last twelve years Germany has spent on new ships alone $316,000,000, and between now and 1914 will spend another $257,500,000."

AN ILLUSTRATION.

The readiness of Germany to expand her fleet regardless of expense was illustrated on Thursday last when the Budget Committee of the Reichstag passed without debate the Admiralty's estimate for new armor for the current year. The sum of $21,482,500 for the artillery of new battleships, cruisers and torpedo boats and for mine floating apparatus was voted without any suggestion or objection from any quarter.

At a recent meeting of the French Council of Ministers the Minister of Marine made a statement on the subject of his negotiations with the Navy Committee of the Chamber of Deputies. He announced that the designs for the six new 23,157-ton battleships have been drawn up and approved in all particulars.

No alterations were contemplated, and the ships were to be laid down at the rate of two a year—in 1910, 1911 and 1912. The 1910 and 1912 ships were to be constructed in the naval dockyards at Brest and L'Orient, respectively, while the 1911 pair were to be built by private contract. The period of construction for each ship was fixed at three years.

The ships were to be armed with twelve 305 millimeter guns and 22 120.6 millimeter guns. Their speed was to be between 20 and 21 knots, with a steaming capacity of 2,300 miles at 20 knots, and 25,000 horsepower.

THE HEAVY GUNS.

which are of the 1906 30-calibre type, using a 40 kilogram melinite shell, will be disposed in pairs in six turrets. The arrangements of the turrets, four along the centre line of the ship and one on each side amidships, will permit ten guns to be fired broadside and eight guns ahead or astern. The fore turrets are to be about eight feet higher than the aft turrets, and the highest placed gun will be nearly 35 feet, while the lowest will be over 21 feet above the water line.

The secondary armament will be arranged in eight independent batteries, each with a radius of fire of 120 degrees. Six batteries of three of these 105.6 millimeter guns will be disposed along the sides of the ship, while the remaining four will be situated low in the stern. The arrangement will allow six of these guns to be fired ahead and ten astern.

The armor will consist of an armored belt 270 millimeters thick at the two ends. The armored decks will be 70 and 45 millimeters thick. The battleships will cost $12,400,000 each, including $900,000 worth of ammunition. Each battleship is to have a reserve of $1,360,000 worth of ammunition.

INCREASE OF $16,000,000.

The large increase in the impending British naval estimates show a rise of over $16,000,000 above last year's estimates. Engineering says that the new estimates will total $209,000,000, the largest sum that has ever been asked for by the British Admiralty in the ordinary estimates of any one year. It marks an advance of £75,000,000 on the reckoned up to our right, and on top of the ridge, above the timber line, saw a large grizzly, running for all he was worth.

I called Pope's attention to him, and as he was entirely out of range, being some eight hundred yards away, and as we supposed from his rapid flight that he had seen us, we sat quietly on the horses and looked at him. The horses, too, saw the bear, and they also watched him.

For two hundred yards or so he continued his flight, and then, to our amazement, he turned down the ridge and came straight toward us on the jump. This was another story. We both dismounted, I held the horses by their heads, so they could not make any disturbance, and Pope stepped a few feet ahead and dropped on one knee, ready for a shot in case the bear came near enough.

The bear came down on down hill at the same mad gait until he had covered half the distance and was not over four hundred yards above us, when he dashed into a little thicket of birch bushes and disappeared.

We discussed our chances of crawling up to him. We saw the bushes sway, and jumped the grizzly and down he came straight toward us. It seemed as if he must surely have seen us, and he actually came up within a hundred and fifty yards of us, when he turned to the left, stopped, and commenced digging out a ground-squirrel.

This was our chance. The bear was standing broadside on, and Pope fired. He hit him just back of the shoulder, and pierced the heart. It was a good shot.

The bear turned a somersault, cartwheeled down toward us, and never stopped until he landed in the little trail that we were following.

This was Pope's first grizzly, and from the stories he had been told of how wild these bears were and how hard to kill, he had felt that it was doubtful if he ever got one. Yet we had been standing, with the two horses, all the time in plain view. Not a bush screened us, and the horses kept their ears pointed forward and watched the bear from the time he left the ridge until Pope shot him.

The Prince saw Blondin, who was then in the height of his glory, cross the famous Niagara rapids on a hawser, and the daring rope walker wanted to take the Prince over in a wheelbarrow, as he had successfully done the empty barrow.

One incident alone of the Prince's land journeys must be recorded. It was during a Royal lunch at Brantford, on the railway line from London to Niagara, when a bevy of fair damsels invaded the cloakroom, unseen, and carried off all the black bands from the white top-hats of the Royal party in order to make sure of securing amongst them the one belonging to the Prince as a precious relic of his memorable visit. The young ladies of Quebec had at the same time carried off every tag from the green tassels of the bell-rope which hung over the Prince's cot on board the Hero.

The journey from the Dominion through the United States, where the Prince was hailed with the greatest enthusiasm, differed from his Canadian one in being "incognito," and as "Lord Renfrew," instead of Prince of Wales.

"By a strange coincidence," says Sir Gardner Engleheart in his "Journal printed for private circulation," "the squadron arrived at Portland on the very day and almost at the very hour on which just 55 years ago a British fleet of six sail, under Capt. Mowatt, entered the harbor (of Portland) with orders to burn, sink and destroy the town which had just given a hearty welcome to the officers of the squadron, has entertained them at a grand ball, and is now taking enthusiastic leave of the Prince.

At 3.45 p.m. (on October 20), we were on board the Hero once more and under weigh for England."

THE VOYAGE HOME.

And now commenced for the Royal party a tedious voyage of twenty-four days, with strong head winds during the last fortnight. On November 5 we were within 410 miles of our destination, when the strong easterly head wind increased to a gale, and so continued for nine days more. Much of the fifteen days' coal on board when we left Portland had already been consumed when the gale sprang up, and, moreover, it was impossible for a 90-gun line-of-battle ship to make headway under steam against the mountainous Atlantic sea, and we were compelled to near our port as best we could close-hauled under treble-reefed topsails for several days. By noon on the 12th we were still 300 miles from Plymouth, and the next day only 50 miles nearer. The weather, however, was bright and beautiful, with plenty of blue sky, and on November 9, the anniversary of the birth of his Royal Highness—which was to have been spent at Windsor with their Majesties the Queen and Prince Consort—was celebrated at sea during the gale, whilst Her Majesty was holding a review and distributing Victoria Crosses to distinguished soldiers in the Home Park our Royal Squadron was dressing ship and saluting, while we observed the guns of the Ariadne almost dipping. The London Lancet Says It Is Unknown.

It is possible that an examination of the probability of premature burial in the light of certain facts may be of consolation to the less prejudiced of those who dread its occurrence. In all the thousands of postmortem examinations which have been performed throughout the civilized world during the last fifty years has there been a single instance of the supposed corpse under examination showing signs of life such as would infallibly appear at the dissection of a living subject? We venture to say that if this had occurred the world would have heard of it. We would point out, moreover, that the bodies upon which postmortem examinations are performed are in no sense selected, but include those of persons of both sexes and of all ages who have died from all sorts of natural and violent deaths and at widely varying intervals of time.

Evidence more conclusive than that of opinion is forthcoming, for a Vienna correspondence describes the elaborate system of death certification which has been enforced in Austria during the last fifty years, which provides that every body before burial must be seen at least twice within forty-eight hours after death by two independent medical men and by one of them again immediately before the closing of the coffin. In no single instance has the fact of death been controverted during these repeated examinations, and to make assurance doubly sure in Vienna those persons who desire it can have the uncoffined bodies of their dead friends kept under observation in special mortuary halls for as long as eight days before burial, but of the many thousands of bodies which have been laid out in this manner not one has ever risen from his or her probationary bier.

ATMOSPHERE OF CITIES.

Sunshine Lessens as Population Increases.

German cities are studying their atmospheric conditions. The fact that sunshine lessens as population becomes more dense, and especially when the activity of industrial centers expands superficially and increases in intensity, has long been noted. An increasing tendency to fog has also been observed, and both are effects of the imperfect and incomplete combustion of coal.

Modern industry pays toll for this in the injury of delicate fabrics, the general depreciation in the value of many articles of trade and household use, and the increased cost of cleansing. Since the battle is waged with growing energy against tuberculosis, physicians and students of social science feel that the problem of purer air for the dwellers in cities has become primarily important.

Statistics have been collected for some time. They demonstrate how little sunshine falls to the lot of the residents of industrial cities even when the sun is obscured by smoke particles. In no German city has the loss of sunshine, due to fog, equalled that of London, where the foggy days during the three months, December, January and February, increased from eighteen to thirty-one during the last half of the last century.

ANCIENT COST OF LIVING

HOW IT WAS IN THE DAYS OF GAY KING HAL.

Beef Sold at One Cent a Pound, But Wages Were 12 Cents a Day.

Let's take a look at the cost of living for our English ancestors several hundred years ago, says the New York Press. We can get the prices, because one of Henry VIII's parliaments fixed them by statute, raising them on the whole so that the people were discontented. Beef and pork were a halfpenny (one cent) a pound, button three farthings (a cent and a half). Before the enactment fat oxen could be had for 26 shillings (a little more than $6), a fat sheep or calf for 82 cents. London butchers sold two and a half and three pounds of beef for two cents. The best pig would fetch only eight cents in a country market, but a goose was worth as much. The price of a good capon was from six to eight cents, of a hen four cents, of a chicken two cents. Strong beer cost two cents a gallon, table beer less than a cent. Best French and German wines were 16 cents a gallon. Good red and white wines were sold for eight cents a gallon, with penalties for poor stuff or short measure.

LABORERS' WAGES.

Of course, money was scarce. Skilled labor (by statute) received 12 cents a day for one half of the year, 10 for the other. For the corresponding periods common labor received eight and six cents. In the harvest months, though, special allowances were made to laborers. Mowers, for example, were paid 16 cents a day. Thus a skilled laborer's average day wage (11 cents) would buy 11 pounds of beef and pork, or pretty nearly a pig and a half, or nearly three hens, or nearly six chickens, or more than five gallons of strong beer, or more than 11 gallons of table beer. About half of it would buy for the table three pounds of beef, a chicken and a gallon of beer.

The great mass of English wage earners under gay King Hal could spend practically all their pay for meat and drink, rents being negligible, and nobody (except the aristocracy), doing much in or on the clothes line. The laborer at 8 cents a day in the country could live upon the fat of the land. Though his rent was nothing he could get most of his living out of what he rented. Latimer records that for £3 a year, at the minimum, and £4 at the maximum, his father rented a farm big enough to require six men to till: there was a sheep walk for a hundred sheep, and his mother milked thirty cows. The boy was kept at school until he became "a preacher before the King's Majesty"; five sisters were dowered at their marriage with £5 each. Besides all this, Latimer's father "kept hospitality for his poor neighbors, and some alms he gave to the poor."

RENTS WERE LOW.

If Latimer's father could rent so fine a farm for so little the laborer must have had the merest trifle of rent to pay for his humble cottage.

A GREAT POLICE FORCE

THE N. W. M. P. IS THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

In One Year They Established Order From the Lakes to the Rockies.

In the course of his simply eloquent address before the Canadian Club of Fort William, Col. Steele, formerly commander of the Strathcona Horse, and now in command of Military District No. 10, detailed the experiences of the North West Mounted Police in the early months of its existence.

Sanguinary disorders in Saskatchewan convinced the Canadian Government of the necessity for proper policing of the unorganized territory lying between the Great Lakes and the Rocky Mountains. The first corps of Mounted Police was organized in 1873, and left Ottawa on October 1st of that year, Major Walsh in command, the present Col. Steele next in rank. The original force was three hundred men, with a few field pieces. Of these one hundred and fifty men were from Toronto under Sir George French.

SOME EARLY TROUBLES.

We had several setbacks at the outset. A corral was formed composed of all the wagons, and one of the severe storms of the Red River Valley came up. The horses were inside the corral, tied up with the usual picket lines. A thunder-bolt burst in the corral. The horses broke everything, upset the loaded wagons and went through water five or six feet deep. They swam the Pembina River and went south with a rush. Those of us who were mounted made after them and brought them back—one hundred and twelve miles in twenty-four hours.

Having rested the horses, we started west with a train of wagons two miles long and crossed the Souris River.

NO FEED FOR HORSES.

A small force was sent up to the foothills with a large supply to start a farm for the purpose of helping to maintain the force. Col. French proceeded west with the rest until we crossed the Dirt Hills and away beyond to the forks of the Belly River. There was no track. We took observations for latitude and longitude, and as there were few places marked on the map, we struck within five miles of the point we were intended to reach. The 4th of September came and the usual autumn storms. We saw that we couldn't keep the horses alive, as no oats had been allowed. We couldn't carry them such a long distance. The horses were living on what they could get, and the grass was thin then on account of the enormous number of buffaloes.

RECORD MARCH.

Before the winter closed in Col. French led the whole force to Swan river, and leaving one troop there, returned to the starting point on the Red river. This march totalled 1,956 miles, the longest ever made by a force carrying its own supplies. Scouting parties were detached at various points on the

HALLEY'S COMET DATES

PROGRAMME OF THE HEAVENLY VISITOR'S MOVEMENTS.

Keep This Itinerary for Reference During the Next Two Months.

Keep the dust off your telescopes and opera glasses and your weather eye to the sky. Frederic Campbell, Sc.D., of Brooklyn, who has made a special study of the subject, has the following to say about the advent of Halley's comet:

"On the 18th of May the comet crosses back into the evening sky, and will be about that time at its biggest and nearest to earth. It is at about that time also that earth and moon are expected to pass through the comet's tail. In that period there will be ten days or so of wonderful evening views, after which the comet will somewhat rapidly retire into space and fade from view."

DATES OF APPEARANCE.

The visit of Halley's comet to our skies, after an absence of 75 years, is one of the supreme events of a lifetime. While the popular frenzy and superstition associated with its appearance in 1456 are not now to be looked for, it is safe to say that the nightly presence in our sky of this monster of celestial depths will excite universal interest. It is with a view of enabling one to keep track of this stranger for a time, that the following dates and facts are brought together:

March 6—Comet sets 8.03 p.m.

March 7—Comet crosses earth's path overhead, where earth was October 19 last; speed 1,548 miles a minute.

March 16—Comet sets 7.19 p.m.

March 18—Comet right ascension, 0 hours, 20 minutes; declination, 8 degrees, north.

March 27—Comet passes behind the sun, 165,000,000 miles distant, and enters morning sky. Also crosses Venus' path coming.

March 28—Comet now in morning sky till May 18, and, rising earlier and earlier before the sun approaches the earth.

March 31—Comet begins to be seen in east before sunrise.

DATES FOR APRIL AND MAY

April 1—Comet's distance, 130,000,000 miles.

April 4—Comet rises, 4.44 a.m.

April 12—Comet moving more than 100,000 miles an hour.

April 16—Comet rises, 3.45 a.m.

April 19—Comet at perihelion—nearest the sun; speed fastest, 1,575 miles a minute.

April 24—Comet rises, 3.09 a.m.; now turns back east among the constellations.

May 1—Comet's distance from the earth, 63,000,000 miles; close to Venus in the sky to-day.

May 6—Comet rises, 2.38 a.m.; earth crosses comet's path, where comet will be May 26, but not in same plane.

May 7—Comet 5 degrees south of star Gamma Pegasi.

May 8—Comet rises, 2.46 a.m. Comet's greatest elongation west of the sun, as seen from the earth. Comet 10 degrees north of Venus.

May 9—Comet crosses Venus' path retreating.

sides all this, Latimer's father kept hospitality for his poor neighbors, and some alms he gave to the poor."

RENTS WERE LOW.

If Latimer's father could rent so fine a farm for so little the laborer must have had the merest trifle of rent to pay for his humble cottage. In the time of Henry VII. in the parishes there were reserved for the laborer, as shown in Froude, "large ranges of common and of unenclosed forest, which furnished his fuel to him gratis; where pigs might range and ducks and geese; where, if he could afford a cow, he was in no danger of being unable to feed it." This was considered so essential to the prosperity of the people that when more and more land was being acquired by big holders Parliament enacted in Elizabeth's reign that no cottage should be built for laborers without at least four acres of land going with it for their use.

When Henry VII. found that the beet trusts and egg trusts and poultry trusts of his day were getting control of the market through acquiring a monopoly of the lands and restricting their use he and Parliament attacked the monopolies with a law enacting that no person should have or keep on lands not his own inheritance more than 2,000 sheep; no person shall occupy more than two farms," etc.

The language of this statute was not unlike Mr. Roosevelt's in speaking of undesirable citizens: "Whereas divers and dry persons have daily studied, practiced and invented ways and means how they might accumulate and gather together in a few hands great multitudes of farms and great plenty of cattle have raised and enhanced the price of all manner of corn, cattle, wool, pigs, geese, hens, chickens, eggs and such other commodities, to starve the poor and induce them to steal their food."

Harrison records that by 1576 farms which in the beginning of the century had rented for £4 a year had been raised to £40, £50 and even £100 a year.

A FOOD BOYCOTT.

In 1536, time of Edward III., Parliament enacted a food boycott. No man, noble or peasant, was allowed to have more than two courses at a meal or elsewhere, and "each mess of two sorts of victuals at the utmost, be it flesh or fish, with the common sorts of pottage, without sauce or any other sort of victuals. Anyone, however, could substitute a sauce for a mess, but it must not have in it more than two sorts of fish or flesh.

In London fresh fish during the Tudor period was luxury for the rich, beyond the means of the poor.

In the time of Henry VIII. board and lodging for servants, laborers who lived with their employers, etc., were valued at four cents a day. This was allowed to those who elected to live under their own roofs and feed themselves. The Earl of Northumberland allowed five cents a day. Harrison describes the astonishment of the Spanish nobles who accompanied Philip to England when they saw how the working people lived. Though living in mud houses, "these people," said one of them, "fare commonly so well as the King."

RECORD MARCH.

Before the winter closed in Col. French led the whole force to Swan River, and leaving one troop there, returned to the starting point on the Red river. This march totaled 1,950 miles, the longest ever made by a force carrying its own supplies. Scouting parties were detached at various points on the march, and Col. McLeod suppressed the whiskey traffic in the district around where McLeod now stands.

GREAT BUFFALO HERDS.

Col. French went up to Swan River next spring. In those days we had twenty-nine thousand Sioux Indians from across the line to look after. Once we saw ninety thousand buffaloes on the march, and skins were taken in scores of thousands. In the following summer we started south to the Ant Hills and put down the whiskey trade. In the following winter we were off fifteen days with the temperature from 42 to 46 below zero.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL.

But no one complained. We felt first rate. The result of that one year was that no matter where you went you could sleep in comfort on the prairie. A lady could have ridden through the Blackfoot district and no man would meddle with her. It was the same all over the west. The fact that the redcoats were there was enough. They treated the Indians well. We have seen the Indians ride two and three miles out of their way to come and shake hands and pass on.

QUAINT CEREMONY.

A quaint Shropshire (England) ceremony was witnessed at Market Drayton on a recent morning when the first public fair of the year was duly proclaimed. Clad in his scarlet robes of office, the bailiff of the ancient manor of Drayton Magna, attended by the constables, searchers, sealers, and scavengers, required the official ale taster to read the proclamation. This announced that all might come and go free from arrest except for outlawry, treason, and murder, but warned all thieves, rogues, vagabonds, cutpurses, idle and disorderly persons to depart immediately.

Portadown Town Council the clerk stated that the joint water scheme for Portadown and Banbridge would be completed in September next, and that the approximate cost for both towns would be $410,000.

The Registrar-General reports that the number of emigrants (natives of Ireland) who left Irish ports during last month was 596 (505 males and 331 females) as compared with 884 (553 males and 331 females) in corresponding month of last year.

By a recent order the beautiful demesne and walks at Moore Abbey, Monastererevan, the family seat of the Earls of Drogheda, have been closed to the public. The grounds had been available for public recreation from time immemorial, it is stated.

ARRESTED FOR SNEEZING.

The most silent town in Europe is (or rather was until recently) not Bruges apparently, but Driesen-Vordamm, in Brandenburg. Here the municipal regulation with regard to street noises are so strict that a visitor a short while ago was fined five marks for sneezing out of doors. The stranger refused to pay, and though assured that this small fee saved him from the properly deserved punishment of prison, he remained unmoved by the expression of generosity and preferred to argue the matter out in the local courts. He was eventually acquitted, but since the verdict the head of the police of Driesen-Vordamm refuses to answer for order in the streets of that locality.

July 27—Earth passes the perihelion point of comet, where it was April 19.

August—Comet passes again into morning sky, but visible only in telescopes.

September 11—One year since discovery of comet by Wolf of Heidelberg, then distant 350,000 miles.

May 29, 1911—Comet crosses Jupiter's path, in retreat.

A. D. 1985-1989—Halley's comet next due.

AGE OF HALLEY'S COMET.

While Halley's comet has been identified as a member of our system for over 2,000 years, certain characteristics of its orbit lead us to believe that it has been with us at least ten or perhaps 100 times as long as that. According to all accounts, it was a magnificent object at the time of the Norman conquest in 1066. Its head was equal to the full moon in size, and its tail increased to a wonderful length.

dent was a broken bolt in the shafts.
The horse received a bad gash between the forelegs.
